While world leaders held the stage in the momentous 10 day conference at Casablanca, the spotlight flashed also on Brig. Gen. W. H. Wilbur (left), who received Congressional Medal of Honor from President Roosevelt's own hands; Sgt. Oran Lass (center) of Kansas City, Mo., who drove the jeep from which F. D. Congress Takes Up Arduous Problem of Devising New Taxes

Curb on Union Leaders Sought in Bill Given Committee Ok

(By The Associated Press)
Washington, Jan. 28.—Enactment of a pay-as-you-earn income tax plan and passage of legislation to punish union labor leaders for interference with interstate commerce shipments were goals set today by two house committees.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC), of the house ways and means committee announced that hearings would begin Tuesday on pay-as-you-go tax plans, separating this subject from the general tax problem of how to raise $16,000,000,000 in new revenue above present tax laws. The hope is to get as many taxpayers as possible on a current basis.

The labor legislation was approved by the house judiciary committee without hearings. Its author, Rep. Hobbs (D-Ala.), said it was aimed at what he called practices of some labor unions blocking truck shipments in which union labor is not employed. It would subject union leaders to the heavy fines and prison terms provided in the 1934 anti-racketeering act. A similar measure, fought by union groups, died in the last congress.

At the war department, Secretary Stimson commented at a press conference on "the continued good news from the battlefronts" and said also that in the last 11 months of 1942 Army fliers shot down or probably destroyed 1,349 enemy aircraft, against a loss of 309.

Stimson disclosed that American casualties to date in Tunisia totaled 226 men listed as missing who have been reported taken prisoner, 211 reported killed 532 wounded and another 289 listed as missing.

Jap-American Combat Unit
The Army also announced plans for a combat unit of loyal Japanese-Americans as a senate military subcommittee asked the advice of Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador to Japan, on proposals to separate potential loyal Americans from other Japanese in a dozen detention colonies.

Stimson said the decision to organize a Japanese-American combat team, including infantry, artillery, engineer and medical personnel, was based on "the inherent right of every faithful citizen, regardless of ancestry, to bear arms in the nation's battle."

Another development to concern the lawmakers was a complaint that President Roosevelt does not confide sufficiently in congress. The protests brought renewed requests for creation of a bi-partisan "liaison" committee to bring about a better understanding between the White House and the Capitol.

The 25-member house committee, headed by Representative Doughton (D-NC), was expected to consider the pay-as-you-go tax proposal apart from other tax problems and limit hearings in an effort to place income tax collecting on a current basis by March 15.

One such plan, suggested by Beardsley Ruml, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, would skip taxes on income earned in 1942. A modified version, proposed by Representative Robertson (D-Va.), called for elimination only of lower-bracket 1942 income taxes and imposition of a 20 per cent withholding levy on Interpretative

By GLENN RABB

General Tojo made his annual report to his people on the state of the nation today. His problem, as he addressed parliament, was to present a hopeful picture of the war in which Japan has not won a major victory since the conquest of Burma was completed nearly nine months ago. To keep morale high he shifted emphasis from the purely military aspects to a contrast between Japan as the possessor of a vast new wealth and the United States and Britain as the new "have not" nations.

"Today after one year of our war of justice," he told the Diet, "the southern areas, the world's foremost treasure house, has been completely secured by us. x x x In contrast to our position the United States and Britain, which boasted of their wealth and resources before the war, now are exposing a great shortage in vital war resources."

There is far too much truth in the Japanese premier's picture to suit Americans, who, because of Japan's conquests in those southern regions, have had to forego some of the more luxurious features of a standard of living far above the dreams of the average subject of the Mikado. But that is just one side of the picture. Perhaps the Japanese people can get some spiritual comfort out of their premier's description of their new wealth; it is certain that they are a long way from getting any physical comfort out of it.

The American who shivers in the 60 degrees of his oil-heated home and expends shoe leather where he used to wear out rubber need not envy the lot of Tojo's compatriots, whose shoddy footwear is no protection against slush, muddy streets and to whom 60 degree heat would be undreamed of winter comfort. Not for them is the oil of the East Indies or the rubber of Malaya. The army gets it all—and all, that

Erased

East St. Louis, Ill., Jan. 28.—(AP)—A county draft board quickly erased one name from its list of delinquents.

The men on the list were mailed orders to report immediately.

Mrs. Frank W. Griffith, Sr., called to protest inclusion of the name of her son, Frank, Jr., 23.

"He's a Marine," she said, "and he's been helping clean out the Japanese on Guadalcanal."

The board admitted its error.

Roosevelt's Visit to North Africa Gives Him Renewed Pride n Troops

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Lieut. General Dwight D. Eisenhower announced today receipt of a message from President Roosevelt declaring he was returning from North Africa to the United States with renewed confidence that American soldiers "shall be victorious."

The message, addressed to American soldiers in North Africa by the commander in chief, said:

"My brief visit to North Africa has given me increased assurance and a deeper feeling of pride in the leaders and men of the American armed forces."

"The officers and men who landed with the initial assault,

Gov. Green Expects To Sign War-Bonds Buying Bill Today

Submits Measure to Atty. General for Opinion on Its Validity

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Governor Green sent the bill authorizing investment of surplus state funds in federal war financing securities to the attorney general today for an opinion on its constitutionality, and the governor's office said the chief executive expected to sign the measure later in the day.

Submission of such bills to the attorney general's office is customary, and the action in this instance was described by the governor's office as a formality.

The bill, bearing the name of Rep. Reed F. Cutler (R-Lewis-town), house majority leader, was passed unanimously by both houses. Green estimated about $60,000,000 in treasury balances would be available for investment in government issues through the legislation during the next few months.

The governor said he believed Illinois was the first state in the

Army Bomber Pilot Blamed for Crash

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board held today that a collision between an Army bomber and an American Air Lines transport over Palm Springs, Calif., last October 23, was caused by the "reckless and irresponsible" action of Lieutenant William N. Wilson, 25, the bomber pilot.

Twelve persons, including nine passengers, were killed when the big 21 passenger plane crashed from 9,000 feet after its tail had been sheared off by a propeller of the B-34 bomber of the ferrying command.

Lieutenant Wilson was acquitted by an Army court martial which investigated the case.

The CAB said in a formal report: "We are driven to the conclusion that this collision resulted from the reckless and irresponsible act of the bomber pilot and that the captain (pilot) of the airline was without fault."

All aboard the airliner were killed.

(The CAB's authority in the case is limited to announcement of its findings; it has no punitive power except over licensing of civilian fliers.)

Men of another Fortress named "Carter and His Pills" said that the German fighter pilots "were just primary and basic training fellows, they didn't know which way to kick the rudder". Their Fortress, named for its pilot, Capt. J. W. Carter of Lawton, Okla., was weathered 11 raids without a scratch.

Duesseldorf Under Heavy Raid by RAF During Last Night

Tons of High Explosives and Incendiary Bombs on Industrial Center

London, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The R.L.F. hit the German city of Duesseldorf with several hundred tons of high explosives and incendiary bombs last night during the fourth allied aerial blow at the German war machine in two nights and a day, it was announced today.

"Preliminary report" of last night's raid on the Rhineland by Lancasters and Halifaxes show several hundred tons of high explosives and incendiary bombs were dropped on Duesseldorf in 20 minutes, an authoritative statement said.

The Air Ministry had reported that six bombers were missing from a heavy attack on industrial objectives in the Rhineland, which continued a cycle of raids featured by the first U. S. Air Force assault on the reich and the first bombing of Copenhagen.

Is Industrial Center
Duesseldorf, a center of transport and heavy industry in north-west Germany, is 160 miles southwest of the Wilhelmshaven naval base which, with Emden, was heavily pounded yesterday by United States heavy bombers.

The German high command, in a communique broadcast from Berlin, sought to discount the effect of the American blows.

Striking back by daylight, German fliers attacked a southeast coast town of England this morning, inflicting considerable damage and some casualties.

Some of Britain's biggest aircraft, Lancasters and Halifaxes each capable of carrying four two-ton blockbusters were officially reported to have participated in the blows against the Rhineland.

U. S. FORCE GROWING

At a United States Bomber Base in England, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The first bombing of Germany by the United States Army Air Forces reflects the growing strength of the American air arm in Britain and presages a continuing series of attacks against the heart of the dwindling Nazi empire.

The pilots, bombardiers and the rest of the crews participating in the raid by Flying Fortresses and Liberators assayed the results today with the declaration that they would do better and the German defenses did not do so well.

The unexpected weakness of anti-aircraft and fighter plane defense over Wilhelmshafen indicates that the Germans have not enough first-class aerial talent to cover all vulnerable points, it was agreed here.

Cold and cloudy conditions over the targets there and at Emden limited the high altitude daylight precision bombing which is an American specialty, but the execution of yesterday's raid was held to indicate that American bombers are gaining skill in coping with conditions less than favorable. This fact also expands greatly their potential field of operations.

Raid "Rather Dull"
Col. Curtis Lemay of Columbus, Ohio, the commander of one group of bombers, said they "went 'pretty well except that it was rather dull compared with some we've had. Given a bit of better weather we'll give 'em a show next time that will really mean something."

Sergeant C. E. Chezem of Tulsa, Okla., a waist gunner of the "Gopher", one of the Fortresses, said that the pilots of the German fighters which sought to intercept them appeared to be "just green—they attacked only the rear planes".

Men of another Fortress named "Carter and His Pills" said that the German fighter pilots "were just primary and basic training fellows, they didn't know which way to kick the rudder". Their Fortress, named for its pilot, Capt. J. W. Carter of Lawton, Okla., was weathered 11 raids without a scratch.

Charge Cook With Pullman Car Death of Ensign's Bride

Albany, Ore., Jan. 28.—(AP)—A first degree murder charge which authorities said was based on circumstantial evidence and a reported confession, has been brought against a dining car cook in the slaying of a Navy bride aboard a California-bound passenger train last Saturday.

District Attorney Harlow Weinrick filed the charge in justice court yesterday, naming Robert Folkes, 20, Los Angeles, second cook aboard a unit of the Southern Pacific's West Coast Limited as defendant. He is held in Los Angeles, where Weinrick was informed, he made a statement admitting the killing.

The charge against Folkes constituted the first important development in the fantastic case since the morning, five days ago, when the body of Mrs. Martha Virginia James, 21, of Norfolk, Va., was found in the aisle of a sleeping car on the speeding train.

The young woman, four months' bride of another Virginian, Ensign Richard F. James, had been slashed across the throat as she lay in lower berth 13 of Sleeper D.

In Los Angeles Detective Capt. Verne Rasmussen said Folkes admitted the killing, saying he had stabbed Mrs. James with a sharp boning knife at the instigation of another unidentified man.

Report Hitler Will Give Up Command of Forces Temporarily

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Radio Maroc, in a broadcast recorded today by the U. S. Foreign broadcast intelligence service, quoted a Swedish newspaper report that Adolf Hitler had decided to give up personal direction of the German armies temporarily to the general staff.

The Maroc broadcast, in French to France and the empire, was recorded as saying: "According to the Swedish paper Nya Daglight Allehanda, Hitler is said to have decided to hand over the conduct of military operations, temporarily, to the general staff, which is reported to have drawn up a plan by which the axis armies would withdraw and have a new line from Kursk to Kharkov and from Dieppepetrovsk to Sevastopol and the Crimea."

"But military circles consider these steps have been taken too late to have any effect whatever on the development of the situation."

First Women Trained for Work With Army

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 28.—(AP)—The first group of women to be trained at the University of Illinois for civil service work with the Army will begin classes March 1. Prof. C. A. Keener, in charge of the training, said today.

The first group, a class of 60, will be given a 24 weeks course in radio and electronics. On completing it they will go to Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, to become under-engineers assisting Army officers in radio research and development for the Air Corps.

Candidates must be 18 to 30 years old, have had at least two years of college education, and have studied high school mathematics, physics and chemistry. They will pay their own living expenses here from their training salary of $120 a month, and their starting salaries at Wright Field will be $1,620 a year.

A class of men has just completed a similar course.

Chileans Parade and Cheer the Breaking of Relations With Axis

Santiago, Chile, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Thousands of Chileans paraded through the streets of Santiago last night to demonstrate approval of the government's action in breaking relations with the axis and later heard President Juan Antonio Rios describe the step as the only one consistent with national "tradition and spirit."

The parade was one of the largest mass demonstrations in Chilean history and included representatives of all the leading political parties as well as delegations of nationals from the occupied countries of Europe.

President Rios, in a speech from the palace balcony, reminded "he through he had promised to give axis nationals fair treatment but promised to "punish severely any act contrary to the common interests of America."

Reds Drive Toward Kaikop Oil Fields From Black Sea Area

New Russian Spearhead Being Pushed Onward Toward Rostov

Moscow, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Tass news agency published today a dispatch from Bern which said it was reliably reported that mutinies broke out last month in German units stationed at Bayonne and Dijon, France, when they were ordered to the Russian front.

Four German officers and 18 men were shot at Bayonne, the dispatch said, while a platoon of infantry at Dijon which protested against being sent to Russia was disarmed and sent under escort in sealed cars to Germany.

Moscow, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Russians continued the merciless extermination of the doomed Germans before Stalingrad today, quoting prisoners as denouncing Hitler and officers who "ran away and left us," and widened the Caucasus front westward by capturing two cities close to the Maikop oil fields.

(The Germans announced a new retreat west of Voronezh to a shortened line. The communique said their Stalingrad forces shattered new attacks.

Pravda reported 60 German aviators were captured near Stalingrad when the Red army was driving the foe from behind into the city.

One captured pilot said the German fliers came only recently from Sicily.

Eruption Disclosed
The eruption of new fighting in the western Caucasus was disclosed with the capture of Apsheonskaya and Neftegorsk.

Apsheonskaya is little more than 19 miles from Maikop and Neftegorsk is 25 miles southwest of the oil center which was burned and blasted by the Russians before they moved out in the face of the German advance early last summer.

The news of this advance, tying in with other successes reported in the Caucasus which would help encircle the Maikop area,

Jap Float Planes Attack U. S. Ships

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Navy announced today that two Japanese float planes attacked United States ships somewhere west of our positions in the Aleutian islands. No damage was suffered, the Navy said.

It was the first such Japanese attack in the Aleutian islands in months, a Navy spokesman said. The Japanese planes probably were operating out of Kiska.

What type of United States ships were attacked was not specified.

Text of the communique number 264:

"North Pacific:
"1. On January 28th, two Japanese float planes attacked United States ships operating to the westward of our positions in the Aleutian islands. No damage was suffered.

"South Pacific (all dates are east longitude).
"2. On January 26th, United States troops on Guadalcanal island continued to advance to the west despite stiff enemy resistance. Forty Japanese were killed and five prisoners and some enemy equipment were captured."

Wickard Says Criticism of Butter Shipments to Russia Is Unjustified

Chicago, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Butter shipments to Russia last year were only a fraction of the nation's supply, Secretary Wickard has disclosed, and he believes there is no justification for any criticism of the amount sent to the United States' ally.

The secretary of agriculture in reporting that 1942 butter shipments to Russia were 17 million pounds, said "there has been criticism of our sending even that much". He disclosed the amount was "about one-tenth as much as our Army required, and less than one per cent of our total supply."

"I don't believe we should begrudge a small shipment of butter to an ally who is fighting as bravely and is doing so much to bring the final downfall of Hitler's power," Wickard said in a speech

Dilemma

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The government of the District of Columbia, that hodge-podge that represents city, state and federal form of rule under one bracket, is in a stew.

The house committee, which jointly with a senate group handles "DC" affairs, hasn't been able to function because the majority party, the Democrats, can't find enough members of the house willing to serve.

As a result, if the chairman calls a meeting of the committee to act on district legislation now, he'll be out of a job. The minority will turn into a majority and the Republicans say they'll elect Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) as chairman.

With Dirksen on the committee are eight other Republicans including Simpson (Ill.)

There are only eight Democrats appointed thus far, including Rowan (Ill.)

No Need for U. S. I. Commission Backer of Proposal Says

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Declaring there is no need for a state commission to investigate the need for the University of Southern Illinois, as proposed by the University of Illinois Alumni Association, Senator R. G. Crisenberry (R-Murphysboro) said "all investigation necessary" was made before his bills to create the USI were introduced in the legislature.

"The bills to create the University of Southern Illinois have been given full consideration by both school and business organizations in southern Illinois," Crisenberry said. "They've given it more serious consideration than any commission would."

Chairman Co-Sponsor
Crisenberry said he expected the series of senate bills he and 12 other senators introduced on the proposal to convert Southern Illinois Normal University at Carbondale into the University of Southern Illinois to be referred to the senate education committee by Lieut. Governor Hugh Cross.

Senator Norman G. Flagg (R-Moro), chairman of the education committee, is one of the co-sponsors of the USI bills.

Deneen Watson, Chicago, president of the University of Illinois Alumni Association, said yesterday that the association would ask Governor Green, Lieut. Governor Cross, and the legislature to appoint "an independent and impartial commission to appraise the need for a University of Southern Illinois."

Crisenberry characterized the suggestion as "just another stall."

Allied Bombers Blast Bizerte Axis Targets

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Axis targets at Bizerte were attacked by allied bombers Tuesday night and two enemy destroyers were bombed on the shuttle run between Tunisia and Sicily yesterday, one being left afire, a communique said today.

Ground activity on the Tunisian front was confined to patrolling, the allied command stated. Enemy targets were attacked by allied light bombers and fighters.

Tricked

Stockholm, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The German press is attempting to explain defeats on the Soviet front by declaring that the Russians tricked them, a Swedish correspondent reported today.

Russia's concealment of her real military power and skill in camouflage resulted in surprises for the Germans even during the second year of the campaign, the press complained.

RAIN SLOWS ACTION

London, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Rain—the great enemy of mechanized armies—was reported today to be delaying expected large scale action in Tunisia and giving Field Marshal Rommel valuable time in which to complete his junction with Col. Gen. von Arnim.

Advices from the North African front said that torrential storms had terminated a week of fair weather, bogging down many important roads and making the terrain totally unsuitable for tank operations.

The break in the weather came just as United States ground forces were becoming increasingly active in central Tunisia—the forerunner, perhaps, of an allied attempt to drive a spearhead through to the coast near Sousse and thus cut communications between Rommel and von Arnim.

The German controlled Vichy radio, indeed, said the Americans actually had launched an offensive for which axis sources previously had reported large numbers of U. S. troops gathering at Tebessa, on the Algerian frontier some 140 miles southwest of Sousse.

American, British Experts Meet With Lt. Gen. Eisenhower

Conference Forecasts Way When Allies Make Jump Into Europe

London, Jan. 28.—(AP)—French forces of Gen. Henri Honore Guillaud and DeGaulle's from the Lake Chad area were reported in a French communique broadcast from Algiers today to have joined in the conquest and occupation of Gadam, Italian stronghold in the desert 300 miles southwest of Tripoli.

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A 48-hour conference here attended by the best military brains in Britain and America today sharply foreshadowed the day when the United Nations will use North Africa as a springboard into Europe.

The military chiefs conferred with Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander in chief of the allied expeditionary force in North Africa, after speeding eastward from the Casablanca conference of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

That they came to this theater after the policy making Casablanca conference was taken as an indication the allies consider a Mediterranean offensive against the axis as one of the best bids for victory.

All the conferences centered around General Eisenhower. This combined with the presence of allied leaders was taken as an indication the allies are planning a union of all forces in the Mediterranean into one great theater with a coordinate command.

Such a step has long been foreseen by military experts as a necessity.

Offensive Resumed
Allied air forces have resumed the offensive in Tunisia with a series of attacks on Nazi ground targets and a blast at two Italian destroyers, one of which was left in a sinking condition, the allied spokesman announced today.

Bad weather limited ground activity to patrolling.

B-25 Mitchell Bombers, escorted by P-38 Lightnings, found the two destroyers 100 miles off Tunis in the Mediterranean narrows and scored two direct hits that left one burning and shipping water.

The RAF and the 12th Air Force combined in sweeps with Spitfires, Lightnings, Warhawks and Boston Bombers, raking Nazi transports and fuel dumps with cannon fire over a wide area.

RAF Spitfires blew up a German gasoline truck on the road between Tunis and Pont du Fah, destroying a tank and a tank carrier at the same time. Lightnings strafed a truck column, leaving many vehicles in flames.

The RAF rounded out a 24-hour attack with a night raid on Bizerte, axis-held naval base.

All American planes were reported to have returned from the operations. A communique said one allied aircraft was missing.

French and American troops, the communique said, also made

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marshall of Annawan and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Burkey and daughter, Grace.

250,000 Hogs Go Into Monthly F. D. A. Buying

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 28.—Pork products and lard from the equivalent of about 250,000 hogs were among the purchases made in Illinois during December by the Food Distribution Administration to meet requirements of U. S. Allies, according to a report to the University of Illinois College of Agriculture by the Great Lakes regional office.

Pork products acquired by the food distribution agency totaled 33,108,292 pounds; lard, 10,825,000 pounds; lamb and mutton (frozen), 4,391,000 pounds, and miscellaneous meat products, 4,417,333 pounds. Purchases of beef products during the 30-day period were limited to 1,005,040 pounds, consisting of frozen, cured, canned, smoked and dried cuts.

Illinois farmers and processors contributed additional large quantities of food products to meet allied requirements, according to the report. Among these were: Creamery butter, 210,874 pounds; dried whole eggs, 128,250 pounds; soybean oil, 1,020,000 pounds; oleomargarine (colored), 11,479,984 pounds; wheat flour, 10,575 barrels; corn starch, 42 million pounds; oats, 800,000 pounds and laundry starch, 61,776 pounds.

A large part of the products purchased by the FDA from Illinois packers and processing plants were shipped into the state from adjoining states.

"Meat products, especially pork, and the other foodstuffs acquired by the FDA in Illinois processing centers are proving of definite assistance to the war effort of our Allies. Our Axis enemies can be destroyed through the combined effort of all of the United Nations, and the contributions of food products produced by American farmers, especially those in the middle west, are a definite factor in the successful operations of the English and Russian fighting forces overseas," it was pointed out.

Reclaiming Worn-Out Farms Largely Matter of Reversing Process

Chicago.—Reclaiming "worn-out" farms so they can contribute effectively to the nation's wartime food production is largely a matter of reversing the process that exhausted their fertility, according to a statement made public here by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"Most worn-out farms have lost their ability to produce profitable crops because the farmers who tilled them used up the soil fertility faster than they replaced it," says the statement. "These farmers sold plant foods off the land in the form of crops, livestock and milk without bothering to put back any of these plant foods into the soil. The result was lower yields per acre and poorer quality crops."

"The remedy," continues the statement, "lies in paying back to the soil what has been borrowed from it, so that its fertility account is solvent once more."

"The rebuilding job requires attention to four steps to put the land back in shape to be farmed profitably. These are: sensible crop rotation; the growing of clover, alfalfa and other nitrogen-fixing legumes; the more effective employment of manure by the regular addition of superphosphate; and the use of fertilizers containing plenty of phosphorus and potash."

"Assisting every farmer in his effort to produce more food per acre, are his county agent and the agronomists at the state agricultural college or experiment station. Information is readily available from these sources on fertilizers best adapted to particular crops and soil types on effective rotation cycles, on legumes best calculated to fill the soil's need for nitrogen and on the methods of utilizing manure."

Illinois Is Heeding Request to Curtail "Pleasure Driving"

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Illinois is heeding the nation's request for curtailment of pleasure driving, Carter Jenkins, state director for OPA, today informed the Illinois State Council of Defense.

This is proven, Mr. Jenkins said, by a 59 per cent decrease in auto traffic on rural primary highways Sundays as against only 40 per cent weekdays, since the start of gas rationing.

"This shows," the OPA director added, "that the people of Illinois are conserving their gas for necessary and practical purposes—the transaction of business and in driving to and from work. With car owners in Eastern states under strict surveillance as to pleasure driving, Illinois is to be congratulated for voluntary curtailment of such driving."

Total decrease in traffic for the first month of gasoline rationing was 44 per cent as compared with the same month a year ago, according to the state bureau of highway research.

New Type of Banking Makes Its Appearance

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A new type of bank account—with deposit slips and checks, but using ration coupons instead of money—was opened in banks throughout the United States today by thousands of food and gasoline distributors.

These ration bank accounts take up "where the public's transactions leave off, that is, after consumers have surrendered their ration currency to merchants and other distributors," E. S. Ferguson, regional OPA rationing executive, explained.

Utilizing the nation's commercial banking system, the ration banking program will cover transactions in gasoline, sugar and coffee. It will be applied later to other ration programs.

Effective today, local war price and rationing boards will no longer exchange ration slips and coupons for ration certificates. Ration bank depositors will henceforth use ration checks instead.

Guernsey, Swiss Men Meet on February 4th

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 28.—Karl Musser, of Peterborough, N. H., will discuss problems faced by members of the Illinois Guernsey Breeders Association at the annual meeting to be held at the Illini Union building room 314S, on Thursday, Feb. 4, at Urbana.

Also appearing with Musser, who is secretary of the American Guernsey Cattle club, will be R. D. Stewart, Columbia, Mo., fieldman for the club.

The meeting has been scheduled for this date, the last day of Farm and Home Week, since many of the 149 association members will be on the campus at that time.

Officers are Jesse E. Tuttle, West York, president; Ralph Burnham, Macomb vice-president, and Omel L. Baumgartner, Walnut, secretary-treasurer.

Members of the Illinois Brown Swiss association will hold their annual meeting on the campus on the same date. Officers are W. E. Naffziger, Pekin, president, and J. E. Roche, Carlock, secretary-treasurer.

Speakers will include Dr. J. E. Ovit, Sycamore, national president of the Brown Swiss Breeders' association, and Fred Idtse, national secretary.

Green Authorized to Bid Up to Million Dollars for "Neptune"

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Governor Green was authorized to "take judicious action in bidding at auction on amount within the range of $1,000,000" in state funds for war bonds for the purchase of "King Neptune," a purebred Hereford "Victory pig" in a resolution adopted by the senate.

Senator J. Will Howell (D-West Frankfort) introduced the resolution, which commends the work of the Franklin county school children and First Class Petty Officer Don Lingle of the Navy recruiting station at Marion for promoting bond sales totaling $500,000. The governor has been invited to participate in a rally to be staged in southern Illinois at which "King Neptune" will be sold at auction.

Rock River Valley Holstein Assn. in Its Annual Meeting

Last Friday about one hundred members and guests of the Rock River Valley Pure Bred Holstein Association from Lee, Whiteside, Ogle and Bureau counties assembled at the J. J. Cole farm, five miles west of Amboy for their annual meeting.

4-H students from Amboy, Ashton and Lee Center townships and their respective instructors, O. C. Holt, R. A. Robinson, and Dean Finch, were among those present.

Lunch was served at 12 noon by the following ladies: Mrs. H. D. Ditsch, Mrs. Lee McCracken, Mrs. Kenneth McCracken, Mrs. Roi Degner, and Mrs. J. J. Cole. Holstein wholesome milk, pasteurized and bottled in paper containers by the Coss dairy of Dixon, was featured as the beverage produced by Mr. Ditsch, who is in charge of the Cole dairy farm.

Ernest Hecker, president of the association, called the meeting to order immediately after lunch. After a brief summary of the year's work, Mr. Hecker introduced the following speakers: O. C. Holt, Dean Finch, E. M. Clark, national field man, and J. J. Cole.

Officers Chosen
Mr. Holt spoke on "Proper feeding of the herd" and stressed the importance of balanced rations. Mr. Finch spoke on "The value of a pure bred sire", and explained the advantages of bull associations. Mr. Clark spoke of "The Holstein breed" and its importance to society in war, as well as in peace times, and advised all members to continue their interest in the registration of their animals and the keeping of accurate herd books. Mr. Cole discussed the "Different cow families within his herd", and had the butter fat records of the herd since its origin showing an average of over 400 pounds of butter fat per year for the past six years, 22 head out of 26 being the daughters of one proven sire. H. D. Ditsch had the herd in fine condition as well as the barn and premises, and was complimented for it by many of the guests.

The election of officers took place after the meeting, the officers elected as follows: J. J. Cole, president; Ernest Hecker, vice president; Leo Getzender, secretary.

Grain News

Chicago, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A carryover of 688,000,000 bushels of wheat is in prospect for July 31, end of the current crop year, the agricultural department of Canada estimated in a review of requirements and production goals for the dominion for 1943. The carryover would represent an increase of 264,000,000 bushels at the start of the crop year.

Broomhall, British grain authority, said "the weather in most of eastern Europe has turned mild and wet. The crops are well advanced and susceptible to any sudden change in the temperature which may occur in February. There is some snow cover in the Balkan countries, but many areas are bare".

Canada's official correspondent at Buenos Aires, reporting on the wheat situation in the Argentine, estimated that the country's exportable surplus totaled 304,000,000 bushels.

Canadian bonded wheat stocks in the American market declined to 13,886,000 bushels at the close of last week compared with 15,780,000 bushels at the close of the preceding week, the food distribution administration reported.

$500 Essay Contest for Illinois Pupils

Council of Defense Is Promoting Project to Stimulate Interest

Chicago, Jan. 28.—A $500 essay contest to stimulate the activity interest on the part of Illinois high school pupils was announced today by the committee on adjustment of business to war conditions, Illinois State Council of Defense.

Thirty awards will be made in the form of war bonds and stamps with a $100 war bond as first prize. The prizes will be provided from funds donated to the Council.

Dean Charles M. Thompson of the University of Illinois college of commerce and business administration, chairman of the committee, said the primary purpose of the contest was to point out the increasing gaps in store and office staffs that can be filled by students. With more men and women being called to the armed forces and other war activities, he said, many positions can be filled by students on a part time basis, and on a full time basis during vacation periods.

March 15 Final Date
Essays in the contest, which closes March 15, must be limited to 1,000 words and contestants are free to write on any subject dealing with the relation of high school students to war manpower. Dean Thompson said. Suggested subjects are "What I learned as a Christmas Extra," "My Job in Business for Summer, 1943," "The Compensation of a Part Time Job," and "Schools Provide Business Manpower."

All essays should be submitted to Dean Charles M. Thompson, chairman, committee on adjustment of business to war conditions, Illinois State Council of Defense, University of Illinois, Urbana. Only one entry may be made and must be approved by the high school principal.

Judges will include businessmen, college and university authorities and others interested in youth activities. The Illinois Federation of Retail Associations, Illinois Chamber of Commerce, Illinois High School Association and Illinois Chain Store Council are cooperating in the contest, Dean Thompson said.

Denied Divorce, St. Louis Man Murders Wife, Burns Her Body

St. Louis, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A 27-year-old baker's helper led sheriff's deputies to a wooded ravine near St. Louis yesterday where they found the wire-trussed and partially burned body of his wife, Mrs. Elwyn Lawrence, 28, missing since Jan. 17.

Sheriff Arnold J. Willman said he struck the mother of his three small children with a claw hammer in an argument during which she refused him a divorce.

An 18-year-old widow, Mrs. Lillian Talley, whom Lawrence took into his home as a housekeeper, was in custody as a material witness. The sheriff said she had admitted intimate relations with Lawrence.

When they faced each other yesterday, officers said she burst out, "I thought I loved you, but now you get me into this kind of a mess."

Mrs. Lawrence's body was wrapped in a home-made quilt tied with an electric cord. Willman said Lawrence related that he poured gasoline over the body and set it afire.

Authorities began the investigation two days ago at the request of Mrs. Lawrence's father, V. C. Phillips, who came here from his home in Hopkinsville, Ky.

Great All-Out Air Attack on Munda by Yanks Is Described

By WILLIAM M. HIPPLE
In a Flying Fortress over New Georgia Island, Jan. 24—(Delayed)—(AP)—This four-engined weapon of destruction has just contributed another two tons of T.N.T. to the greatest all-out air offensive yet launched from the Solomon islands against Japanese positions to the north.

It's dawn, and the enemy field at Munda is now a temporarily useless strip of ground, full of craters and denuded of air and surface defenses.

We cannot see any planes or activity on the ground. The once-heavy Munda anti-aircraft fire was laughable this morning. It's reduced to a scarecrow half dozen guns, widely aimed and widely shot.

Our heavy bombs hit the runway, dispersal areas and quarters to the east of the field.

To the north—15 miles away on the southern tip of Kolombangara island in the New Georgia group—we can see plainly that fires are burning on the Jap airfield and other positions at Vila.

Moonlight Attack
A few hours ago a strong force of U. S. Navy surface vessels made a moonlight attack on the enemy airfield, a recent installation. These high-blazing flames are the result of the pulverizing shell-fire the warships poured into the Vila.

Yesterday afternoon the Munda field area was scarred badly, but at that time the anti-aircraft fire was heavy and close to the mark.

But today after many relentless attacks, Munda looked nearly worthless, and all but a few of the ackack guns apparently had been knocked out.

I visited Munda yesterday in a Fortress called "O'Reilly's Daughter", a name for which none of the crew could offer an explanation. Ours and seven other Fortresses were escorted by Warhawk and Lightning fighter planes.

The heavy ships did pattern bombing, all dropping their big yellow eggs about the same time. Looking back, I saw that the bombing had been extremely accurate, encasing the whole peninsula where the field is located.

The Men's Brotherhood held their first meeting last Friday night with a good attendance for the foggy night. The night's baseball tournament consisted of four games. In the first bracket Rollie Richardson's Eagles took on Zene Johnson's Bears and won the upper hand 29-20. On the other diamond Buddy Jacob's Marines laid hands on John Archer's boys for a 38-32 winning. In the second bracket the two winners and the two losers looked horns. Jacob's Marines again had things well in hand over Rollie's Eagles with a slight margin of 18-16. The consolation innings gave Zene Johnson's Bears the fur overcoats over John Archer's boys on a 17-7 basis. R. W. Bunting called the business meeting to order. A quiz on plans and programs was taken and turned over to Rollie Richardson for planning the winter's program. The eats committee for the evening was Russ Bradley, chairman; Walter Archer, Amil Bernardin and Rollie Richardson. The fourth Friday seems to be the best date for the meetings this winter; however, definite announcements will be made early by the program committee. The Boy Scouts were the guests for the evening.

Take Wedding Vows

The announcement has just been made of the marriage of Betty Jean Risetter, daughter of Mrs. Berwyn Helm of Beloit, to Sidney Franklin Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Morgan of Chicago, August 28, in Dubuque, Iowa.

Betty Jean is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Risetter of Paw Paw and lived here during her childhood. She attended Beloit college with the class of 1940 and is a member of the Delta Delta Sorority. Her many friends here in Paw Paw wish to extend their best wishes to the happy couple on the journey through married life.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan will make their home in Evanston where the groom is in business with his father.

Farewell Party

The entire school body and faculty of the Paw Paw Community high school sponsored a farewell party in honor of Mrs. Dorothy Urish, who leaves soon for Texas, where her husband is stationed. The evening was spent with the group playing Chinese checkers, contact and cards. Following the various games the group danced to radio and phonograph music. Mrs. Urish was presented with a beautiful linen tablecloth and napkins from the student body as a parting remembrance. Mrs. Urish has taught English and Latin for the past year and a half at the Paw Paw high school and has proven to be popular with all classmates and other teachers. She is being replaced by Miss Currie of Loda, Illinois, and she was presented with a big box of candy as a welcome from her students. Everyone wishes to extend their best wishes to Mrs. Urish for her future and also to Miss Currie while she is teaching here.

Guests of Honor

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Niebergall entertained a large group of friends and relatives at their home Tuesday evening for a party in honor of Private Gilbert Krenz of San Angelo, Texas, and Donald Ferguson. for army duties. Gilbert is to be home until Tuesday, February 2 and then he reports back to Texas for his continuation of military work. The evening was spent in the playing of various card games and a delicious lunch was served to complete an enjoyable evening for everyone.

Those present to help make it a delightful occasion for the two honored guests were Mrs. Ferguson's mother of DeKalb, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Suddeth, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Walters and son Elmer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Powers, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Krenz and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ferguson, all of Paw Paw.

Missionary Society

The members of the Baptist Missionary society met at the church Tuesday afternoon for their regular meeting. The usual business transactions took place with Mrs. Olive Shaftey having charge of the devotionals. Mrs. Henry Faber was the leader for the afternoon and gave a report on "The life of a famous missionary, William Borden". Following this interesting report, a delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Hattie Crouch and Mrs. Alfred Burnett. A delightful afternoon was reported by all.

Stork Party

A group of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mrs. George Kelly Wednesday afternoon for a stork party in honor of Mrs. Clifford Worsley. The afternoon was spent in the playing of bingo and prizes were awarded to almost everybody and the usual social period was enjoyed during the afternoon. Mrs. Worsley received many lovely gifts after which delicious refreshments were served.

Those present to help make it a pleasant afternoon were: Mrs. E. N. Gibbs, Mrs. Carl Kindelberger, Mrs. Donald Ambler, Mrs. Vic Winterton, Mrs. Carl Eich, Atta Beach, and Mrs. Clifford Worsley, all of Paw Paw.

Girls' Bridge Club

Mrs. Clifford Wick entertained the young girls' bridge club members at her home Tuesday evening for their regular meeting. Mrs. Gail Avery won high honors and Mrs. Delia Harper received the consolation prize. A dainty luncheon was then served by the hostess to round out a pleasant evening.

Must Stand Trial for Rockfordite's Death

Sacramento, Calif., Jan. 28—(AP)—Ford A. Strock, 66, operator of a suburban water company, will be tried on a murder charge as the outgrowth of the death of Robert J. Williamson, 41, of Rockford, Ill., at Strock's home last week.

A complaint against Strock was signed yesterday by the victim's wife, Mrs. Mary Williamson, 36.

Williamson, representative of an Illinois aircraft company, was shot to death, District Attorney John O. Brown said, in an argument which started over a bottle of perfume. Strock contended the gun discharged accidentally.

Care of Horses, Mules Needed to Meet 1943 Goals

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 28—Ability of horses and mules to supply power for planting, tending and harvesting crops to meet the high 1943 production goals depends to an important degree upon the care they receive during the winter, states J. L. Edmonds, professor of horse husbandry, of the University of Illinois, college of agriculture.

During the past few years when tractors were available, many horses were so nearly starved and miserably cared for during the winter months that they were almost useless when put up against a hard day's work in the spring. Now faced with high production goals and shortages of machine power, farmers are focusing attention on feeding and caring for their animals, Edmonds says.

During the winter, one feed a day of good legume hay (clover, alfalfa, soybean or lespedeza) with the balance of roughage of coarser, cheaper sorts is sufficient for idle horses. Although they do not require strictly fancy grades of hay, they do not thrive on moulded, musty or dusty roughage. Stock fields are sometimes a source of fatal sickness as well as feed.

Grain should be fed if the hay is not good enough, to maintain moderate condition. If some legume hay is being given, a few ears of sound ear corn will do the job. When well fed, idle horses will remain healthy outside, but shelter with dry bedding should be provided them for protection from bad storms.

Regular exercise is almost as important as feed in putting horses and mules into good working condition. Using them for several weeks in advance of the season's opening on hauling and road-dragging jobs will serve to toughen and train them.

Trimming the feet and currying are additional worth-while practices. As a minimum, shoulders and necks should be kept clean, and collars should be kept in good condition.

Treating for intestinal parasites during the winter months is recommended, but should be done

Illinois Cities Send Fourth Million Pounds of Tin Cans to Plants

Chicago, Jan. 28.—More than a quarter of a million pounds of prepared tin cans were shipped from Illinois cities outside the Chicago metropolitan area during the first 15 days of January, Lt. Gov. Hugh W. Cross, chairman of the conservation committee, Illinois State Council of Defense, said today.

The lieutenant governor added that the diligent effort of housewives and community committees had given Illinois high standing in the national campaign for salvage of tin.

Peoria and Springfield shipped two cars each of prepared tin cans in the first half of the month and Rockford, Elgin, and Rock Island one car each.

Joliet has placed tin collection stations in 103 groceries. They

4-H Boys Win $75 Scholarships on Dairy Projects

Urbana, Ill.—Glen Rader, 20, of Carlock, McLean county, and Virgil Smith, 18, of near Aurora in Kendall county, have been named winners of $75 scholarships toward a college course for their 4-H dairy projects last year, according to an announcement by E. I. Pilchard, extension specialist in 4-H work, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Rader's Guernsey herd included two purebred calves, a heifer and three cows. One of the calves had been awarded him by the Illinois Guernsey Breeders' association for being the outstanding member last year.

Eight purebred Holsteins comprised the winning project of Smith, who stated that, "After completing my ninth year, I have definitely decided to be a dairy farmer."

Rader netted $439.10 from his project, while Smith's profits amounted to $789.17. Based on the efficiency of milk production, the awards were made on points including the cost of producing a pound of butterfat, average butterfat production a cow, feeding of supplements according to production and the kind of pasture program that was followed.

Alternates named are Calvin Meyer, Peotone, Will county; Henry R. Kaiser, Greenville, Menard county, and Harold F. Beals, Centerville, Marion county. The National Dairy Products corporation awarded the scholarships.

SOLDIER PAYS DEBT

Cody, Wyo.—(AP)—Two years ago a Cody youth joined the Army and left without paying an $8 debt to Mildred Parr, the operator of a motor court.

Recently she received a new $10 bill from North Africa and a letter from the soldier.

He explained the $10 was part of the first pay he had received in Africa; that it was to pay the debt and the extra $2 "should take care of the interest."

have resulted in increased collections through women shoppers carrying their tin cans to the stores. Tin salvage in Champaign and Urbana was good.

Wartime Medical Supplies and Electricity

To meet the wartime demand for vast quantities of medical supplies, electricity is on the job every hour of the day. It runs the machines that control temperature and humidity in pharmaceutical laboratories... the machines that extract medical ingredients... the machines that sterilize containers... the machines that automatically package medical preparations.

Electricity gives life to these and hundreds of other machines that speed the preparation of medical supplies for America's soldiers, sailors and marines.

This electrically operated machine sterilizes ampoules which will carry injection preparations to our Medical Corps.

After the ampoules are filled the heads are heated to a pliable state and carefully sealed to insure sterility.

A Thought for Today

Shall mortal man be more just than God? Shall a man be more pure than his maker?—Job 4:17.

God never meant that man should scale
the Heavens
By strides of human wisdom. In His works, Though wondrous, He commands us in His
word
To seek Him rather where His mercy
shines.—Cowper.

As March 15 Draws Near

Those rumblings of renewed interest in the Ruml income tax plan signify that March 15 next is beginning to disturb the sleep of our taxpaying
citizenry.

In between tax dates most of us can't be worried about the details of the system. But now,
with the Victory Tax taking bites out of every pay
envelope and a huge installment due soon on last year's tax, we're beginning to realize how much harder it is to pay for a dead horse than a live one.

The Ruml plan proposes that we pay most of our income tax as we earn it. In that way we never would come up to an annual March 15 with a burdensome debt to Uncle Sam and nothing with which to pay.

The current system assumes that we taxpayers
are superhuman enough to save up the money with which to pay a tax whose very size we cannot
know until the saving period has virtually ended.

Suppose Joe Doakes, keeping his New Year's
resolution, lays aside $1 a week for the $50 income
tax he expects to have to pay. Seeking to finance
the war, next October or November congress decides to up Doakes' tax to $75. Of what avail
were his good resolutions? Of what benefit that he kept them? He still hasn't saved enough to pay the tax.

The Ruml plan recognizes this difficulty and recognizes also that human nature is weak and
that most of us, however good our intentions, do
not even save up the $50 we thought we would have to pay, let alone the $75.

In so far as we have dared figure it out, most of us realize that the tax next March is going to hit us hard. Whether or not we realize it, the tax
a year from next March will be much greater.

We can't plan on the 1944 payment. We wouldn't be able even to guess how much it will be.
All we can do is try, out of what is left after a 10
per cent bond deduction, a 5 per cent Victory tax
bite, a 1 per cent social security tax, skyrocketing
prices for food and mounting costs of most other things, to squeeze out enough for the 1943 income

tax.

While we do that, we can be forgiven if we think now and then how much more pleasant it would be if we had paid the 1942 tax week by week
as we earned, and thus were out of debt to Uncle
Sam.

The closer March 15 approaches, the more we can expect to hear about the Ruml plan.

Senatorial Humor

The Congressional Record presents this colloquy
deadpan, in its verbatim record of senate proceedings immediately following the opening prayer:

The vice president: "Is there objection to receiving messages from the president of the United States? The chair hears none, and the messages
will be received."

Mr. Connally (D., Tex., since 1929): "Mr. President, a parliamentary inquiry."

The vice president: "The senator from Texas
will state his inquiry."

Mr. Connally: "Does the chair hold that a message from the president of the United States is not business?"

The vice president: "That is correct."

Mr. Connally: "It is not business?"

The vice president: "It is not business."
Whereupon, to save time, the reading of the
previous day's journal was dispensed with, by unanimous consent.

Another Card to Carry

For administrative reasons which may be adequate, the Selective Service Bureau has ordered
that after Jan. 31 all draft registrants from 18 to 45 must carry classification cards as well as registration certificates.

The latter, which registrants already are required to keep on their persons, are small enough
to fit into any wallet or identification card case.
Form 57, the classification card, is of postcard size
and must be carried loose in most men's pockets.

The penalty for not having it to show on demand cannot be more than a $5,000 fine and five years' imprisonment.

Russian Spirit

Unthinking Americans have asserted that love
for Communism is what makes the Russian people
fight so heroically against the Nazis. Ilya Ehrenberg, who has been described as Russia's "most powerful" war correspondent, has another idea.

They fight for their country, for its soil, for
their national culture, for their loved ones, says
this Red Star correspondent, who could not be anti-Communist and hold his job.

We commend to American party liners Ehrenberg's comment in a recent New York Times magazine: "The cosmopolitanism of the nineteenth century is a thing of the past, Love for one's own village has been resurrected."

Good Hunch

This country is manufacturing enough small
arms ammunition each month to fire 83 rounds at
every individual soldier in the axis armies, reports
the War Department. That is good. We are looking forward to the day when a few months' supply
can be utilized in that every way.

(Distributed by King Features
Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington — The Roosevelt-
Churchill promise of heavy actions, great battles and smash-
ing victories to come will naturally stimulate the inquisitive
imaginings of Americans who,
like myself, know nothing of the
plans—and should know nothing.

Yet, a careful, comprehensive
look by us at the obvious military situation may do much to clarify our thinking and expectations.

Hitler's retreating troops in Russia are seeking refuge on a
defensive line, probably half as short as they have occupied. This means they still hope to maintain
a new defensive eastern front
with half as many troops, half as much material.

As the Reds advance, they
must run increasingly into the
same obstacle which hindered Hitler, namely extensive communication lines. They too will have
to stop somewhere to reorganize
and repair communications. They have insufficient strength to run
on into Germany.

Even if cracking morale demor-alizes completely the Nazi front
on the eastern front, Hitler can
still hope to maintain some sort
of defensive line in Poland and
the Balkans to protect the homeland and central European con-
quests temporarily.

So also in the west, Hitler has
been pushing civilians out of Marseille, apparently in anticipation that one of the Roosevelt-Churchill "heavy actions" will be an invasion of southern France.
Indeed, Roosevelt hinted as much
when he spoke of the liberation of France as a primary war aim.

and try indefinitely to hold the
small, ill-gotten empire he has
acquired in the center of the continent.

He may try invasion of Turkey,
and has threatened invasion of Spain, but the latter prospect has
faded since the bombing of Berlin
showed the Spanish what would happen to their cities if they let Hitler in.

A Nazi air-borne invasion of the Suez from Crete is not unlikely.
Our immediate objective is the
annihilation of Nazi forces in Tunisia. The British-American forces should accomplish this in coming weeks.

This invasion of Italy seems
called for, rather than an attack
on the southern coast of France,
which would entail long communication lines. The taking of Sardinia and Sicily would probably have to come first.

The British have armies at
home supposedly available for invasion. If Hitler moves too much to the south of France, they
could conceivably strike directly
against the formidable prepared
fortresses across the channel, although Hitler has an army of 3,000,000 to 5,000,000 fairly good
troops to dispose upon the western ramparts of his continental
fortress.

A more enticing point for British invasion is Norway, and here
is where the German radio has
been expecting it.

Certainly Hitler, (now nearing
defeat at such a rapid pace that Roosevelt talks of unconditional
surrender as the only term of
peace) is digging himself in on
shorter last-ditch internal lines,
letting Russia, and perhaps Italy,
go. Unless he collapses before spring, these lines must be cracked by us to attain our terms.

The morning in Nazi news and
funeral dirges played over the Berlin radio are, unhappily, not
the good signs of German cracking that the American public
wants to believe them to be. If they were entirely authentic, the
end, indeed, is at hand.

But the clever Nazi psychologists apparently are using their military set-backs—which could not be concealed anyway—to
frighten and shake their people
into the last ditch stand that Hitler is preparing. The Goebbels
gang seems to have ordained an era of publicity realism for the German people solely for their own fighting purposes, and not
for peace.

As for the Far East, it is common for American authorities to say that victory over the Japs
will take years and years. It should not.

General MacArthur has pointed
out one way to crush them more quickly. His public statements
from New Guinea urge the adoption of new tactics to take far
flung Jap island strongholds by
air.

He wants, presumably, 1,000 big
planes or more to carry 20 to 70
men each, and supply them, for
the taking of Jap island centers
rather than proceeding island by island in tedious amphibious warfare.

Other still better ways of hastening victory over the Japs are apparent here. MacArthur, naturally is speaking of his own immediate problem after New Guinea, and is trying to promote

more planes for his purposes.
But the Jap empire can be
forced into submission most quickly if we strike at the source of
their power rather than chasing
them over vast jungle islands.

A heavy concentration of American plane power in China can
cut the Jap line of supplies to its
island bases and do more damage
to Tokyo than the RAF has yet
done to Berlin.

If we can arm the vast empire
of China, the Japanese armies
can be driven back into the sea,
and, once their military power is broken, the end of the war will
be years and years away.

This, the Roosevelt-Churchill ac-
greement, proposes to undertake.

SIEBERT HARTWIG

Siebert Hartwig, 74, Polo,
passed away at 5:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Katharine Shaw Betha hospital, to which he had been admitted Monday.

The son of John and Anna Hart-
wig, he was born Nov. 30, 1868, on
a farm in Eagle Point township,
west of Polo. His marriage to the former Ella Ports took place July 3, 1894. Mrs. Hartwig died in 1923.

Mr. Hartwig had resided in the vicinity of Polo all of his life, and retired from farming several years
ago.

Surviving are a son, Ralph, with
whom he resided and a daughter, Mrs. Robert Pollock, of Polo. A son, Robert, died in 1912.

VICTOR WESTENDORF

(Telegraph Special Service)
Oregon, Jan. 28.—Victor West-
endorf, 44, former chief of police
of Oregon, passed away at the Rockford Municipal sanitarium at 5:45 o'clock Wednesday morning,
after an illness of several months
duration. Funeral services will be held at the Methodist church at 2:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the Rev. Paul E. Turk, pastor, assisted by the Rev. J. E.
Dale of the Oregon Lutheran church, officiating. Burial will be in Lighthouse cemetery.

Mr. Westendorf was born at Dieterich, Ill., June 6, 1868, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Westendorf. He had been a resident of Oregon since 1918. He was a member of the Oregon police
force for a number of years, and
was chief for six years before he retired 11 months ago due to ill
health. Previous to joining the Oregon police department, he was
a member of the state highway
police department.

Surviving are the widow, the
former Sarah Behrend; one
daughter, Lois, Oregon high
school student, and three sisters,
Mrs. Laura Meier of Oregon, Mrs.
John Ludwig of Elmo, Mo., and
Mrs. George Resenbeck of Rockford. He was preceded in death
by his parents and two brothers.

CHAS. W. MIDDLEKAUFF

Freeport, Jan. 28.—Attorney
Charles W. Middlekauff, 76, of Freeport, a prominent lawyer in
northern Illinois for more than 50
years, died Tuesday night at San Antonio, Tex., where he was spending the winter.

Mr. Middlekauff was a former assistant attorney general of Illinois and a former special assistant United States attorney general. He had served one term in the Illinois legislature, and had
held the presidency of the Sixth Judicial District Bar association
and membership on the board of governors of the Illinois State Bar
association.

From 1937 to 1939 Mr. Middlekauff served as master in chancery
of the Stephenson county Circuit court.

He was born near Adeline, Ogle
county, April 9, 1867, and was graduated from Forrester high school and the University of Michigan. He practiced law in Lanark after being admitted to
the Illinois bar, and in 1914 he came to Freeport.

His widow, the former Helen
Thompson, survives. A daughter,
Attorney Margaret Middlekauff
Cleveland, died in Chicago Feb. 6, 1942.

The body is expected to arrive
in Freeport Saturday, and funeral services and burial probably will take place here.

Fair Enough
by
WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—The lighter side, or
the solemn winter consistency of the American Federation of Labor
which, by happy coincidence, is always held in Miami, has been
dimmed this year and Havana denied the lavish and cheery company of the union racketeers and
the tramps who used to go along
to help them drink up the duties
and fees of the faceless stiff back
home.

Sam Nuzzo, a hearty celebrant
of labor's victories and extravagant defender of the workers' gains,
will not be going south at all,
except, perhaps, as a lammer-
er. Brother Nuzzo has been sentenced to 10 years of penitential
meditation on his errors and his sins. That is a pity from the social standpoint. He was a high roller when he had it and generous to a criminal extent until the
law chopped him down for stealing from his local of the laborers'
union or shakedown on the aequi-duct job at Newburgh, N. Y.

When Brother Nuzzo took off
for Florida and Cuba, ecia was something that he had nothing
else but. He took along not only his love interest whom he imported and strictly high-class perfume and draped in silver fox, but also his bodyguard, one Andy Wallace, a punchy ex-fighter from the Frank Hague and Joe Fay country on the Jersey side. Eventually,
his love interest told all in court
and Brother Wallace, at last reports had found the heat too oppressive around Newburgh and was racketeering on a big Army
job at Orangeburg, N. Y.

When on his trial, Brother
Nuzzo insisted that Brother Wallace was not his own phenomenon
and said the punchy one had been dropped in on him by Brother
James Bove, one of the international vice presidents, to keep watch over the collection and distribution of the take from the
saps. Certainly Punchy Wallace
was not there by Nuzzo's invitation, for Brother Sam had never heard of the lug until Brother
Bove gave him the precious jurisdiction over the stiff on the west
shore of the Hudson, and more-
over Wallace was so expensive
that his presence became a burden. Although he was supposed to be Brother Nuzzo's bodyguard
he required six or eight gorillas
himself for protection from his foes when he took to the road on
union business and even so was
slit one time at a formal banquet
for one of the higher dignitaries
of Brother Will Green's cabinet
and required a special vacation
and a special gift of $500 from the
saps, to recuperate in beautiful
Miami at $20 a day per gorilla
plus expenses. The services of Brother Wallace and his guards
became a luxury that kept the
kitty wan and puny all the time.

Brother Bove, of course, was in
no way embarrassed by the testimony and he was one of the mob,
in fact the traffic manager of the mob, which shoved off in three Pullman railcars on Jan. 10 to legislate and celebrate for labor in the land of the criminal scum. He is an international man, as they say in the union racket, while Nuzzo was a local man. There is a class distinction between the two comparable to that between a
August senate of the U. S. A. No
orthodox AFL official would think
of taking a local racketeer's word
against an international man and if Brother Bove cares to say he
never saw or heard of Punchy
Wallace his colleagues in the hierarchy will take his word. A skeptical district attorney might want a little more convincing. In fact he does.

All happy days eventually
come to dusk and the high noon
of the criminal scum of the union
racket struck that week in 1938
when Giorgio Scalise, of the
building service racket, ran a party for his mob from Miami to Havana and back by Clipper.
There were present among his guests little Augie Carfano, alias
Pisano, a New York gunman;
Charlie Faschetti of Chicago, a
cousin of the illustrious Capone
boys; and Brother Tom Burke, a
vice president of Giorgio's racket
and president of a racket held in
his own right known as the Chicago Theatrical, Business &
Amusement Building Janitors
union.

It is one of the ripest privately-
held union rackets in the country,
including among its suckers a lot
of elevator operators employed in public buildings in Chicago and
subject to persuasion from the Chicago chapter of the party of humanity. The boys had what could have been temperately described as one hell of a time and
came back laden with souvenirs
and hangovers seven layers deep.
But the sun was well over the yardarm for Scalise when he got home and Havana, being out of bounds for tourists, will not see
his like until the cruel war is won.

mount cemetery at Polo.

Friends may call until Friday morning at the Oatman residence, 400 6th avenue.

Mrs. Brewer, the former Agnes Allison, was born Oct. 12, 1858, in Racine, Wis., and was married in Rock Falls to Homer Pettit, who preceded her in death. She later married Harlan Brewer, who died in 1935.

Mrs. Brewer was a member of the Rock Falls Woman's Relief

Troop 89 Boy Scouts enjoyed a very pleasant evening on Tuesday
when their parents joined with them in a Scout-Parents scramble supper. About forty parents and Scouts were present. The troop entertained as visitors during the evening Scouts from Troop 107
from the Nachusa Orphanage. In a double Court of Honor ceremony Troop 89 received its charter, and David Crawford was awarded his Tenderfoot Badge. The charter was also presented to Troop 107
and several advancement awards
were made. Mr. Homann, Scout Executive of the Blackhawk Area
Council, and Leroy Willard, field scout executive, attended the meeting. Mr. Homann gave a very interesting talk to the boys on the part that Scouts are playing in the war effort, as well as some very vivid stories regarding acts of heroism by former Scouts who are now in the armed services.

Earlier in the day Mr. Homann appeared before the Lions club at their noon luncheon where he gave a very interesting account of the problems incident to the training

ed by the lives of five boys with whom Mr. Homann had contact

PLUM HOLLOW LINKSWOMEN ARE PLANNING TO BEGIN THEIR SEASON ON JUNE 1

June's very first day—still more than four months away—is being re-penned by women golf enthusiasts of the Plum Hollow Golf and Country club, for that's the Tuesday they've chosen as opening day of their 1943 season of play. Mrs. Elwin Wadsworth is this year's golf chairman at Plum Hollow, and she asked committee members and their chairmen to her home Tuesday evening to draw up a tentative schedule of events that will keep the linkswomen occupied until well after Labor day in September.

A scramble luncheon is to be a feature of the June first, program, weather permitting, the golfers hope to have two or three weeks of practice strokes on the greens and fairways behind them before the official schedule gets underway.

A handicap contest is being planned for June, and a championship tournament is a highlight of the August calendar. A two-ball mixed foursome tourney is also a possibility, depending upon whether the men accept or reject the suggestion at their own program-planning session, yet to be held. The remainder of the schedule follows closely that of last year, when the Plum Hollow linkswomen chalked up one of their most successful seasons.

Chairmen and committee members who met with Mrs. Wadsworth were: June—Mrs. George Scott, chairman, Mrs. Ernest Swan and Mrs. P. J. Malay; July—Mrs. James Reiter, chairman, Mrs. Henry Jensen and Mrs. Frank Hoyle; August—Mrs. Ralph Barlow, chairman, and Mrs. E. B. Ryan; September—Mrs. Larry Poole, chairman.

During the winter, the linkswomen have been holding a series of benefit prize parties, to raise funds for prizes and trophies for tourneys and contests. Plans for the February party have not yet been announced.

HELEN KELLAR IS HONOREE AT SHOWER PARTY

The honoree's gift cards read for Mrs. Ed Uebel, Mrs. Orlando Spangler, Betty Kellar, Mary Jane Hoberg, Dorothy Moore, Alice Loosli, and the hostesses.

Mrs. Orlando Spangler of 207 Sherman avenue is entertaining for Helen this evening. Dorothy Moore has invited guests to her Peoria avenue home tomorrow evening, honoring the bride-elect.

P. N. G. CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

A bridal gift was presented to Mrs. Harry Friedrichs, the former Mrs. Edna Pine, when members of the Past Noble Grand's club of the Rebekah lodge were entertained at the home of Mrs. Thomas W. Hyde last evening. About 17 clubwomen were present.

Bingo games were played, and a bridal lunch was served by the hostess, who was also displaying her collection of newly-woven rugs.

TO INDIANAPOLIS

The C. W. H. Schraders and their little daughters, Janet and Jane, who have been residing in Dixon for nearly a year, moved their household goods to Indianapolis, Ind., on Saturday. Mr. Schrader, first of the ordinance plant workers to move his household to Dixon, was resident manager for the Simmons, Hazeltel and Erdal company during the plant's construction, and will now be associated with the central office of Simmons company in Indianapolis.

INTER-NOS CLUB Plans for volunteer Red Cross sewing were made by members of the Inter-Nos club, who met yesterday afternoon as guests of Mrs. La Verne Highberger. A dessert-luncheon preceded the business meeting.

Mrs. W. E. Whitson is to entertain in two weeks.

FROM MICHIGAN Mrs. Charles H. Redebaugh has returned from a visit with her husband, a private at Camp Custer, near Battle Creek, Mich. Her sister, Mrs. William Lang of Peoria, is visiting here with Mrs. Redebaugh and their mother, Mrs. Clara Shawger.

Gives Review of "The Robe"

Carrying her audience through high points of the story in the dramatic and narrative manner that book review audiences have come to expect of her, Mrs. A. I. Hardy gave her impressions of a current best seller, "The Robe" by Lloyd Douglas yesterday afternoon at the Loveland Community House, before members of the Dixon Woman's club and their friends.

Mr. Douglas was once asked what he thought became of the robe Christ wore on the way to the Cross, Mrs. Hardy explained. He has interwoven that thought with a delightful group of characters, amid a setting in Rome, Greece and Palestine at the time of Christ.

Marcellus, son of a Roman senator, with his slave Demetrius, was exiled to a post in a Palestine because of his open objection to lavish expenditures in court. The two often spoke of faults of various gods, and wished for one who would curb the injustice of cruelty of man against man.

Marcellus and his contingent of soldiers are ordered to lead Christ from the trial to the Cross. The crucifixion was an unpleasant experience. Many of the soldiers were drunk, and in a dice game, Marcellus won the robe which was dropped from Christ at the foot of the Cross.

Those who revered the robe felt a great peace from any contact with it, but those who did not, could not bear its touch. Demetrius, then Marcellus and finally, Diana, his Roman sweetheart, became Christians. Demetrius met with an accident, and Peter, the disciple, came into the home of Marcellus' father and cured him. Soon after, the emperor wanted Diana for his wife. Marcellus married her, however, and they faced death together because of their Christian faith and the emperor's disfavor. As they were going to their death, they gave the robe to an old servant to be presented to Peter, "the great fisherman."

If one is looking for an excuse and a fitting season to give a party, then February, of all months in the year, should be considered, for within a short span are several important events that offer a wealth of ideas and possibilities. Members of the Nurses' Alumnae association have already announced a Valentine dance for Friday evening, Feb. 12 at the Loveland Community House, Job's Daughters revealed plans yesterday for a Washington Birthday ball, Feb. 22, at Brinton Memorial Masonic temple, and today, Sons of the American Legion report they are planning an informal Lincoln's Birthday dance for Thursday, Feb. 11 in the Legion club rooms. Proceeds from this February party will be used to purchase gifts for Sons now serving their country's colors.

Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock and continue until midnight, with Bill Cooper's orchestra, (a band composed of younger Dixon musicians who entertained at the New Year's Eve ball at the Elks club) playing the program, Milton Alexander is general chairman of several committees, whose members are completing arrangements for the event.

The Dixon squadron now has 12 members in the armed forces, many of whom were active in S. A. L. work and in the squadron drum and bugle corps. They include Richard Arnold, Reid A. Berga, Donald Carry, Edward Christman, Elwin Bunnell, John Harrington, Edmond Pierce, Arthur Tofte, William Vaessen, Burton Woodworth, Robert Woodworth, and Lieut. Raymond E. Worsley.

CANTON COUPLE IS MARRIED HERE

Mrs. Zola Altiser, youngest daughter of Mrs. Joan Adlesperger of Canton, Ill., and Herschel Davis of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Davis of Lewistown, Ill., were married last evening at the First Baptist church. Dr. J. H. Hughes of Amboy, pastor of the church, performed the single ring ceremony at 6:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Hughes and L. F. Redfern were the only witnesses. The bride wore an all-brown ensemble, with a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums. She was formerly employed at the Ernest Studer home in Canton.

The couple have taken an apartment at Mr. Redfern's home, 518 Peoria avenue. The bridegroom is a guard at the Green River ordnance plant.

IT'S SON FOR POTTERVELDS

The David Boveys have received word of the birth of a son, Riess William, to their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Potterveld of Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 26.

YOUNG MOTHER'S CLUB

Mrs. Arthur Cron was welcomed as a new member, when the Young Mother's club met at the First Presbyterian church last evening to make surgical dressings for the Red Cross. About 22 clubwomen were present to help with the work, which will be resumed at the next meeting.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. George Nichols and Mrs. Elliott.

WORK FOR RED CROSS

BRIDGE HOSTESS

Mrs. H. M. Germanson and Mrs. Paul Crabtree were invited to join a bridge club of 12 for contract games last evening at the home of Mrs. Lex Hartzell, Mrs. Joe Miller, Mrs. George McGraham, and Mrs. M. E. Potter were fortunate in the games, which will be continued in two weeks, with Mrs. Charles Roundy as hostess.

AP Asked to Answer 127 Questions by U. S.

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Associated Press is asked to answer 127 questions filed yesterday in federal district court by the anti-trust division of the department of justice in the government's monopoly suit, against the non-profit news gathering organization.

Counsel for the AP has 15 days in which to answer the questions, which deal with the operations of the cooperative and its subsidiaries and ask detailed information on the wires leased, number of employees, cost of operations, wordage of the news report and methods of gathering and handling news.

No date has been set for the hearing.

beginning of the trial, which will be heard by a three judge court of Federal Circuit judges.

The government is asking the court to decide that The Associated Press must open its news report to any newspaper able to pay its share in the gathering and distribution of the news. The AP contends its members are entitled to choose their associates and that the sources of news are open to all.

Shall mortal man be more just than God? Shall a man be more pure than his maker?—Job 4:17.
God never meant that man should scale
the heavens
By strides of human wisdom. In His works, Though wondrous, He commands us in His
word
To seek Him rather where His mercy
shines.—Cowper.

Those rumblings of renewed interest in the Rumpl income tax plan signify that March 15 next
is beginning to disturb the sleep of our taxpaying
citizenry.

In between tax dates most of us can't be worried about the details of the system. But now,
with the Victory Tax taking bites out of every pay
envelope and a huge installment due soon on last
year's tax, we're beginning to realize how much

The Rumpl plan proposes that we pay most of our income tax as we earn it. In that way we never would come up to an annual March 15 with
a burdensome debt to Uncle Sam and nothing with
which to pay.

are superhuman enough to save up the money with which to pay a tax whose very size we cannot
know until the saving period has virtually ended.

resolution, lays aside $1 a week for the $50 income
tax he expects to have to pay. Seeking to finance
the war, next October or November congress de-
were his good resolutions? Of what benefit that he kept them? He still hasn't saved enough to pay the tax.

The Rumpl plan recognizes this difficulty and recognizes also that human nature is weak and
not even save up the $50 we thought we would

In so far as we have dared figure it out, most
of us realize that the tax next March is going to
hit us hard. Whether or not we realize it, the tax
a year from next March will be much greater.

We can't plan on the 1944 payment. We
wouldn't be able even to guess how much it will be.
All we can do is try, out of what is left after a 10
per cent bond deduction, a 5 per cent Victory tax
bite, a 1 per cent social security tax, skyrocketing
prices for food and mounting costs of most other

CHAPTER XXII

ON the fifth day, when it seemed likely that the next procedure would be to move calmly down to the Settlement and begin certain arrangements with the Land Office, Norman Tinker had a suggestion. He had spent many hours off by himself, walking along the water upstream and now he had this to say:
"I have an idea, John, that we had better find out what lies up the river. We're going to have the problem of bringing machinery
in—and maybe we can barge up the stream. I'd like for you to take one of the canoes and go as far as you can, and make some sketch maps—you're so much better at that sort of thing than I am."
"But I went up there," John Frye said. "The rapids begin about two miles above us."
"They extend only a little way,"
said Norman Tinker. "My point is this. See if you can get through them—and see if there is navigable water beyond."
Martha Frye said, "But John is not much of a hand with the canoe."
"Tush," said Norman Tinker.
"Let him take the boy along. You can paddle, can't you, sonny?" And he looked at the boy for perhaps the first time in his life.
"Sure. I'll help."
John Frye looked at his wife.
"I think it will be all right, my dear."
"I think it's just foolish, and dangerous, too."
"Nonsense," Norman Tinker laughed. "Get going early tomorrow, will you, John?"
"You bet I will."
And so John Frye and his son got the canoe into the water with the dawn, and paddled hard upstream. They struck into the rapids, and the exertion made John Frye cough furiously. The boy tried his best. But in a little while John Frye was exhausted,
and there was blood in his coughing. The canoe swept against a boulder and began to roll in the wild water, over and over again.

IN some fashion the boy made his way to the bank, and ran

things, to squeeze out enough for the 1943 income
tax.

While we do that, we can be forgiven if we
think now and then how much more pleasant it
as we earned, and thus were out of debt to Uncle
Sam.

The closer March 15 approaches, the more we
can expect to hear about the Rumpl plan.

The Congressional Record presents this colloquy
deadpan, in its verbatim record of senate proceedings immediately following the opening prayer:

The vice president: "Is there objection to receiving messages from the president of the United States? The chair hears none, and the messages
will be received."

Mr. Connally (D., Tex., since 1929): "Mr. President, a parliamentary inquiry."

The vice president: "The senator from Texas
will state his inquiry."

Mr. Connally: "Does the chair hold that a message from the president of the United States is not
business?"

The vice president: "That is correct."

Mr. Connally: "It is not business?"

The vice president: "It is not business."

previous day's journal was dispensed with, by unanimous consent.

Another Card to Carry

For administrative reasons which may be ade-
that after Jan. 31 all draft registrants from 18 to 45 must carry classification cards as well as registration certificates.

The latter, which registrants already are required to keep on their persons, are small enough
to fit into any wallet or identification card case.
Form 57, the classification card, is of postcard size
and must be carried loose in most men's pockets.
The penalty for not having it to show on demand cannot be more than a $5,000 fine and five years' imprisonment.

Russian Spirit

Unthinking Americans have asserted that love
for Communism is what makes the Russian people
fight so heroically against the Nazis. Ilya Ehren-
berg, who has been described as Russia's "most powerful" war correspondent, has another idea.
They fight for their country, for its soil, for
their national culture, for their loved ones, says
this Red Star correspondent, who could not be anti-
Communist and hold his job.

We commend to American party lines Ehren-
berg's comment in a recent New York Times magazine: "The cosmopolitanism of the nineteenth century is a thing of the past, Love for one's own vil-

Good Hunch

This country is manufacturing enough small
arms ammunition each month to fire 83 rounds at
every individual soldier in the axis armies, reports
the War Department. That is good. We are looking forward to the day when a few months' supply
can be utilized in that every way.

News Behind THE NEWS

Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohib-
ited.)

Washington — The Roosevelt-
Churchill promise of heavy actions, great battles and smash-
ing victories to come will naturally stimulate the inquisitive
imagination of Americans who,
like myself, know nothing of the
plans—and should know nothing.

Yet, a careful, comprehensive
look by us at the obvious military situation may do much to
clarify our thinking and expectations.

Hitler's retreating troops in Russia are seeking refuge on a
defensive line, probably half as
short as they have occupied. This means they still hope to maintain
a new defensive eastern front
with half as many troops, half as
much material.

As the Reds advance, they
must run increasingly into the
same obstacle which hindered
Hitler, namely extensive communication lines. They too will have
to stop somewhere to reorganize
and repair communications. They
have insufficient strength to run
on into Germany.

Even if cracking morale demor-
alizes completely the nazi forces
on the eastern front, Hitler can
still hope to maintain some sort
of defensive line in Poland and
the Balkans to protect the home-
land and central European con-
quests temporarily.

So also in the west, Hitler has
been pushing civilians out of Marseille, apparently in anticipation that one of the Roosevelt-
Churchill "heavy actions" will be
an invasion of southern France.
Indeed, Roosevelt hinted as much
when he spoke of the liberation of France as a primary war aim.

and try indefinitely to hold the
small, ill-gotten empire he has
acquired in the center of the
continent.

He may try invasion of Turkey,
and has threatened invasion of Spain, but the latter prospect has
faded since the bombing of Berlin
showed the Spanish what would happen to their cities if they let Hitler in.

A nazi air-borne invasion of the Suez from Crete is not unlikely.

Our immediate objective is the
annihilation of nazi forces in Tu-
nisia. The British-American
forces should accomplish this in coming weeks.

Then invasion of Italy seems
called for, rather than an attack
on the southern coast of France,
which would entail long communication lines. The taking of Sardinia and Sicily would probably have to come first.

home supposedly available for invasion. If Hitler moves too much
to the south of France, they
could conceivably strike directly
against the formidable prepared
fortresses across the channel, although Hitler has an army of
troops to dispose upon the western ramparts of his continental
fortress.

A more enticing point for British invasion is Norway, and here
is where the German radio has
been expecting it.

Certainly Hitler, (now nearing
defeat at such a rapid pace that Roosevelt talks of unconditional
surrender as the only term of
peace) is digging himself in on
shorter last-ditch internal lines,
letting Russia, and perhaps Italy,
go. Unless he collapses before
spring, these lines must be cracked by us to attain our terms.

The morning in nazi news and
funeral dirges played over the Berlin radio are, unhappily, not
the good signs of German crack-
ing that the American public
wants to believe them to be. If they were entirely authentic, the
end, indeed, is at hand.

But the clever nazi psychologists apparently are using their military set-backs—which could
not be concealed anyway—to
frighten and shake their people
into the last ditch stand that Hitler is preparing. The Goebbels
gang seems to have ordained an
era of publicity realism for the German people solely for their
own fighting purposes, and not
for peace.

As for the Far East, it is common for American authorities to
say that victory over the Japs
will take years and years. It should not.

General MacArthur has pointed
out one way to crush them more
quickly. His public statements
from New Guinea urge the adoption of new tactics to take far
flung Jap island strongholds by
air.

He wants, presumably, 1,000 big
planes or more to carry 20 to 70
men each, and supply them, for
the taking of Jap island centers
rather than proceeding island by
island in tedious amphibious warfare.

But the Jap empire can be
forced into submission most quickly if we strike at the source of
their power rather than chasing
them over vast jungle islands.

A heavy concentration of American plane power in China can
cut the Jap line of supplies to its
island bases and do more damage
to Tokyo than the RAF has yet
done to Berlin.

If we can arm the vast empire
of China, the Japanese armies
can be driven back into the sea,
and, once her military power is broken, the end of the war will
be years and years away.

This, the Roosevelt-Churchill ac-
greement, proposes to undertake.

Siebert Hartwig, 74, Polo,
passed away at 5:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Katherline Shaw Betha hospital, to which he had been admitted Monday.

The son of John and Anna Hart-
wig, he was born Nov. 30, 1868, on
a farm in Eagle Point township,
west of Polo. His marriage to the
former Ella Ports took place July
3, 1894. Mrs. Hartwig died in 1923.

Mr. Hartwig had resided in the vicinity of Polo all of his life, and
retired from farming several years
ago.

Surviving are a son, Ralph, with
whom he resided and a daughter, Mrs. Robert Pollock, of Polo. A
son, Robert, died in 1912.

VICTOR WESTENDORF

(Telegraph Special Service)
Oregon, Jan. 28.—Victor West-
endorf, 44, former chief of police
of Oregon, passed away at the Rockford Municipal sanitarium at 5:45 o'clock Wednesday morning,
after an illness of several months
duration. Funeral services will be held at the Methodist church at 2:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the Rev. Paul E. Turk, pastor, assisted by the Rev. J. E.
Dale of the Oregon Lutheran
church, officiating. Burial will be in Lighthouse cemetery.

Mr. Westendorf was born at Dieterich, Ill., June 6, 1888, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Westendorf. He had been a resident of Oregon since 1918. He was a member of the Oregon police
force for a number of years, and
retired 11 months ago due to ill
health. Previous to joining the Oregon police department, he was
a member of the state highway
police department.

Surviving are the widow, the
former Sarah Behrend; one
daughter, Lois, Oregon high
school student, and three sisters,
Mrs. Laura Meier of Oregon, Mrs.
John Ludwig of Elmo, Mo., and
Mrs. George Resenbeck of Rock-
ford. He was preceded in death
by his parents and two brothers.

CHAS. W. MIDDLEKAUFF

Charles W. Middlekauff, 76, of Freeport, a prominent lawyer in
northern Illinois for more than 50
years, died Tuesday night at San Antonio, Tex., where he was
spending the winter.

Mr. Middlekauff was a former
assistant attorney general of Illinois and a former special assistant United States attorney general. He had served one term in
the Illinois legislature, and had
Judicial District Bar association
and membership on the board of
governors of the Illinois State Bar
association.

From 1937 to 1939 Mr. Middlekauff served as master in chancery of the Stephenson county Circuit court.

He was born near Adeline, Ogle
county, April 9, 1867, and was
graduated from Forrester high
school and the University of Michigan. He practiced law in Lanark after being admitted to
the Illinois bar, and in 1914 he
came to Freeport.

His widow, the former Helen
Thompson, survives. A daughter,
Attorney Margaret Middlekauff
Cleveland, died in Chicago Feb. 6, 1942.

The body is expected to arrive
in Freeport Saturday, and funeral
services and burial probably will
take place here.

Fair Enough
by
WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—The lighter side, or
the solemn winter consistory of
the American Federation of Labor
which, by happy coincidence, is
always held in Miami, has been
dimmed this year and Havana denied the lavish and cheery company of the union racketeers and
the tramps who used to go along
to help them drink up the duties
and fees of the faceless stiff back
home.

Sam Nuzzo, a hearty celebrant
of labor's victories and extrava-
gant defender of the workers' gains,
will not be going south at all,
except, perhaps, as a lammas-
ter. Brother Nuzzo has been sentenced to 10 years of penitential
meditation on his errors and his
sins. That is a pity from the social standpoint. He was a high
roller when he had it and generous to a criminal extent until the
law chopped him down for stealing from his local of the laborers'
union or shakedown on the aqueduct job at Newburgh, N. Y.

When Brother Nuzzo took off
for Florida and Cuba, eclat was something that he had nothing
else but. He took along not only
his love interest whom he sprinkled all over with imported and strictly high-class perfume and draped in silver fox, but also his bodyguard, one Andy Wallace,
a punchy ex-fighter from the Frank Hague and Joe Fay coun-
try on the Jersey side. Eventually,
his love interest told all in court
and Brother Wallace, at last reports had found the heat too oppressive around Newburgh and was
racketeering on a big Army
job at Orangeburg, N. Y.

When on his trial, Brother
Nuzzo insisted that Brother Wal-
lace was not his own phenomenon
and said the punchy one had been
dropped in on him by Brother
James Bove, one of the international vice presidents, to keep
watch over the collection and distribution of the take from the
saps. Certainly Punchy Wallace
was not there by Nuzzo's invitation, for Brother Sam had never heard of the lug until Brother
Bove gave him the precious jurisdiction over the stiff on the west
shore of the Hudson, and more-
over Wallace was so expensive
that his presence became a bur-
den. Although he was supposed to be Brother Nuzzo's bodyguard
he required six or eight gorillas
himself for protection from his
foes when he took to the road on
union business and even so was
slit one time at a formal banquet
for one of the higher dignitaries
of Brother Will Green's cabinet
and required a special vacation
and a special gift of $500 from the
saps, to recuperate in beautiful
Miami at $20 a day per gorilla
plus expenses. The services of Brother Wallace and his guards
became a luxury that kept the
kitty wan and puny all the time.

Brother Bove, of course, was in
no way embarrassed by the testimony and he was one of the mob,
in fact the traffic manager of the
mob, which shoved off in three Pullman loads on Jan. 10 to legislate and celebrate for labor in the land of the criminal scam. He is an international man, as they
say in the union racket, while Nuzzo was a local man. There is a class distinction between the two comparable to that between a
August senate of the U. S. A. No
orthodox AFL official would think
of taking a local racketeer's word
against an international man and
if Brother Bove cares to say he
never saw or heard of Punchy
Wallace his colleagues in the hierarchy will take his word. A
skeptical district attorney might
want a little more convincing. In fact he does.

All happy days eventually
come to dusk and the high noon
of the criminal scam of the union
racket struck that week in 1938
when Giorgio Scallise, of the
building service racket, ran a
party for his mob from Miami to Havana and back by Clipper.
There were present among his
guests little Augie Carfano, alias
Pisano, a New York gunman;
Charlie Faschetti of Chicago, a
cousin of the illustrious Capone
boys; and Brother Tom Burke, a
vice president of Giorgio's racket
and president of a racket held in
his own right known as the Chi-
cago Theatrical, Business &
Amusement Building Janitors
union.

It is one of the ripest private-
held union rackets in the country,
including among its suckers a lot
of elevator operators employed in
public buildings in Chicago and
subject to persuasion from the Chicago chapter of the party of humanity. The boys had what
could have been temperately described as one hell of a time and
came back laden with souvenirs
and hangers seven layers deep.
But the sun was well over the yardarm for Scallise when he got
home and Havana, being out of
bounds for tourists, will not see
his like until the cruel war is
won.

American Legion—A number of letters from individuals and from the Chicago and NorthWestern railroad company were read before members of the Dixon unit, American Legion Auxiliary, last evening in the Legion hall. The writers were expressing appreciation for courtesies extended to passengers who were aboard the train the night of the wreck at the local depot, Dec. 26.

Last evenings meeting was preceded by an afternoon rag bee,
during which carpet rag were sewed for ex-service men in the North Chicago hospital, and a 6 o'clock scramble supper. Edward Jones was present to explain the legislation program for the month,
reports were submitted by committees, and a donation was approved for the March of Dimes.

The unit is assembling an emergency kit to be used in time of opening and closing ceremony.

Striking New York Dressmakers Told To Get Back on Job

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)— Approximately 26,000 New York
dressmakers were ordered to return to work today by David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union (AFL), after a two day stoppage as a result of a dispute with five employer associations.

Dubinsky said he ordered the members of the dress makers union,
an ILGWU affiliate, back to their jobs last night after the War Labor Board has informed "the union it would take up the dispute
if the employees returned."

June's very first day—still more than four months away—is being re-penciled by women golf enthusiasts of the Plum Hollow Golf and Country club, for that's the Tuesday they've chosen as opening day of their 1943 season of play. Mrs. Elwin Wadsworth is this year's golf chairman at Plum Hollow, and she asked committee members and their chairmen to her home Tuesday evening to draw up a tentative schedule of events that will keep the linkswomen occupied until well after Labor day in September.

A scramble luncheon is to be a feature of the June first, program. Weather permitting, the golfers hope to have two or three weeks of practice strokes on the greens and fairways behind them before the official schedule gets underway.

A handicap contest is being planned for June, and a championship tournament is a highlight of the August calendar. A two-ball mixed foursome tourney is also a possibility, (depending upon whether the men accept or reject the suggestion at their own program-planning session, yet to be held). The remainder of the schedule follows closely that of last year, when the Plum Hollow linkswomen chalked up one of their most successful seasons.

Chairmen and committee members who met with Mrs. Wadsworth were: June—Mrs. George Scott, chairman, Mrs. Ernest Swan and Mrs. P. J. Malay; July—Mrs. James Reiter, chairman, Mrs. Henry Jensen and Mrs. Frank Hoyle; August—Mrs. Ralph Barlow, chairman, and Mrs. E. B. Ryan; September—Mrs. Larry Poole, chairman.

During the winter, the linkswomen have been holding a series of benefit bridge parties, to raise funds for prizes and trophies for tourneys and contests. Plans for the February party have not yet been announced.

HELEN KELLAR IS HONOREE AT SHOWER PARTY

The honoree's gift cards read for Mrs. Ed Uebel, Mrs. Orlando Spangler, Betty Kellar, Mary Jane Hoberg, Dorothy Moore, Alice Loosli, and the hostesses.

Mrs. Orlando Spangler of 207 Sherman avenue is entertaining for Helen this evening. Dorothy Moore has invited guests to her Peoria avenue home tomorrow evening, honoring the bride-elect.

P. N. G. CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

A bridal gift was presented to Mrs. Harry Friedrichs, the former Mrs. Edna Pine, when members of the Past Noble Grand's club of the Rebekah lodge were entertained at the home of Mrs. Thomas W. Hyde last evening. About 17 club-women were present.

Bingo games were played, and a bridal lunch was served by the hostess, who was also displaying her collection of newly-woven rugs.

TO INDIANAPOLIS

The C. W. H. Schraders and their little daughters, Janet and Jane, who have been residing in Dixon for nearly a year, moved their household goods to Indianapolis, Ind., on Saturday. Mr. Schrader, first of the ordinance plant workers to move his household to Dixon, was resident manager for the Simmons, Hazelet and Erdal company during the plant's construction, and will now be associated with the central office of Simmons company in Indianapolis.

INTER-NOS CLUB

Plans for volunteer Red Cross sewing were made by members of the Inter-Nos club, who met yesterday afternoon as guests of Mrs. La Verne Highberger. A desert-luncheon preceded the business meeting.

Mrs. W. E. Whitson is to entertain in two weeks.

FROM MICHIGAN

Mrs. Charles H. Redebaugh has returned from a visit with her husband, a private at Camp Custer, near Battle Creek, Mich. Her sister, Mrs. William Lang of Peoria, is visiting here with Mrs. Redebaugh and their mother, Mrs. Clara Shawger.

Carrying her audience through high points of the story in the dramatic and narrative manner that book review audiences have come to expect of her, Mrs. A. I. Hardy gave her impressions of a current best seller, "The Robe" by Lloyd Douglas yesterday afternoon at the Loveland Community House, before members of the Dixon Woman's club and their friends.

Mr. Douglas was once asked what he thought became of the robe Christ wore on the way to the Cross, Mrs. Hardy explained. He has interwoven that thought with a delightful group of characters, amid a setting in Rome, Greece and Palestine at the time of Christ.

Marcellus, son of a Roman senator, with his slave Demetrius, was exiled to a post in a Palestine because of his open objection to lavish expenditures in court. The two often spoke of faults of various gods, and wished for one who would curb the injustice of cruelty of man against man.

Marcellus and his contingent of soldiers are ordered to lead Christ from the trial to the Cross. The crucifixion was an unpleasant experience. Many of the soldiers were drunk, and in a dice game, Marcellus won the robe which was dropped from Christ at the foot of the Cross.

Those who revered the robe felt a great peace from any contact with it, but those who did not, could not bear its touch. Demetrius, then Marcellus and finally, Diana, his Roman sweetheart, became Christians. Demetrius met with an accident, and Peter, the disciple, came into the home of Marcellus' father and cured him.

Soon after, the emperor wanted Diana for his wife. Marcellus married her, however, and they faced death together because of their Christian faith and the emperor's disfavor. As they were going to their death, they gave the robe to an old servant to be presented to Peter, "the great fisherman."

If one is looking for an excuse and a fitting season to give a party, then February, of all months in the year, should be considered, for within a short span are several important events that offer a wealth of ideas and possibilities. Members of the Nurses' Alumnae association have already announced a Valentine dance for Friday evening, Feb. 12 at the Loveland Community House, Job's Daughters revealed plans yesterday for a Washington Birthday ball, Feb. 22, at Brinton Memorial Masonic temple, and today, Sons of the American Legion report they are planning an informal Lincoln's Birthday dance for Thursday, Feb. 11 in the Legion club rooms. Proceeds from this February party will be used to purchase gifts for Sons now serving their country's colors.

Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock and continue until midnight, with Bill Cooper's orchestra, (a band composed of younger Dixon musicians who entertained at the New Year's Eve ball at the Elks club) playing the program. Milton Alexander is general chairman of several committees, whose members are completing arrangements for the event.

The Dixon squadron now has 12 members in the armed forces, many of whom were active in S. A. L. work and in the squadron drum and bugle corps. They include Richard Arnold, Reid A. Berga, Donald Carry, Edward Christman, Elwin Bunnell, John Harrington, Edmond Pierce, Arthur Torte, William Vaessen, Burton Woodworth, Robert Woodworth, and Lieut. Raymond E. Worsley.

CANTON COUPLE IS MARRIED HERE

Mrs. Zola Altiser, youngest daughter of Mrs. Joan Adlesperger of Canton, Ill., and Herschel Davis of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Davis of Lewistown, Ill., were married last evening at the First Baptist church. Dr. J. H. Hughes of Amboy, pastor of the church, performed the single ring ceremony at 6:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Hughes and L. F. Redfern were the only witnesses.

The bride wore an all-brown ensemble, with a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums. She was formerly employed at the Ernest Studer home in Canton.

IT'S SON FOR POTTERVELDS

The David Boveys have received word of the birth of a son, Riess William, to their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Potterveld of Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 26.

YOUNG MOTHER'S CLUB

Mrs. Arthur Crom was welcomed as a new member, when the Young Mother's club met at the First Presbyterian church last evening to make surgical dressings for the Red Cross. About 22 clubwomen were present to help with the work, which will be resumed at the next meeting.

WORK FOR RED CROSS

BRIDGE HOSTESS

Mrs. H. M. Germanson and Mrs. Paul Crabtree were invited to join a bridge club of 12 for contract games last evening at the home of Mrs. Lex Hartzell, Mrs. Joe Miller, Mrs. George McGraham, and Mrs. M. E. Potter were fortunate in the games, which will be continued in two weeks, with Mrs. Charles Roundy as hostess.

She was sworn in at Chicago on Friday evening and expects to report for duty within a month.

FORM SURGICAL DRESSING UNIT AT GRAND DETOUR

A surgical dressing unit will be organized by the Grand Detour Red Cross workers, it was decided yesterday, when the volunteers met at Mrs. Henry Sheller's home for a scramble luncheon.

Through the courtesy of Miss Zula Beck, the dining room of the Landmark tea room will be headquarters for the production center. The opening date may be obtained from Mrs. R. E. Erikson, at Dial 882, who has been dividing her time between knitting and sewing groups.

Next Wednesday, the volunteers will meet at the river front cottage of Mrs. Raymond Le Clercq, who resided at the Colonial Inn until recently. All women and high school girls of the vicinity are urged to contribute as much of their spare time as possible to the work at hand.

BROWNIE SCOUTS MAKE VALENTINES

Brownie Scouts of North Central troop No. 22 were concerned principally with hearts and cupid's lace frills, scissors and paste at their weekly meeting yesterday afternoon at the school. The Valentine missives will be presented to their friends on the romantic saint's day next month.

PRACTICAL CLUB

Mrs. C. A. Mellott entertained on Tuesday with a dessert luncheon for members of the Practical club. Mrs. W. H. Ware was in charge of the program, choosing as her subject, "Dogs of Duty and Devotion." The story of the police dog, seeing-eye dog, Newfoundland, sheep dogs, and others were mentioned.

A Guest Night meeting was announced for Feb. 9 at the home of Mrs. A. N. Boyd.

AP Asked to Answer 127 Questions by U. S.

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Associated Press is asked to answer 127 questions filed yesterday in federal district court by the anti-trust division of the department of justice in the government's monopoly suit, against the non-profit news gathering organization.

Counsel for the AP has 15 days in which to answer the questions, which deal with the operations of the cooperative and its subsidiaries and ask detailed information on the wires leased, number of employees, cost of operations, wordage of the news report and methods of gathering and handling news.

No date has been set for the beginning of the trial, which will be heard by a three judge court of Federal Circuit judges.

The government is asking the court to decide that The Associated Press must open its news report to any newspaper able to pay its share in the gathering and distribution of the news. The AP contends its members are entitled to choose their associates and that the sources of news are open to all.

"definite advances" east of Ousseltia, taking about 50 prisoners. Dispatches from North Africa said that the American advances had brought relief to French troops cut off east of the pass from Ousseltia to Pont du Fahs, 37 miles to the northeast. On the northern Tunisian front activity on both sides was reported limited largely to patrolling, with occasional skirmishes between small forces.

CASUALTIES IN AFRICA

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—American casualties to date in Tunisia have totaled 1,258 dead, wounded and missing. Secretary of War Stimson said today. The Tunisian casualties of United States Army forces include 226 men listed as missing who have been reported taken prisoner, Stimson said, while 211 have been reported killed, 532 wounded and another 289 listed as missing.

Revised reports of the recent armored raid by American forces against enemy positions in central Tunisia showed these results, he said: Two United States soldiers were killed and two tanks were lost; the enemy had 25 killed and 150 men taken prisoner.

Stimson, declining any general comment on the historic Casablanca conference of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill of Britain, said they "undoubtedly were heartened by the continued good news from the battlefronts."

Remarking that in all war theatres "all of our air operations have been brilliantly successful," Stimson said that during the last 11 months of 1942 Army fliers shot down or probably destroyed 1,349 enemy aircraft, against a loss of 309.

The secretary outlined these facts of what he described as continued good news: 1. German authorities were beginning to speak publicly about their defeat in Russia where, Stimson said, the Russian stand at Stalingrad and the subsequent Red army resurgence may well be one of the decisive battles of history.

2. Marshal Erwin Rommel's axis troops in Tripolitania were in full flight.

3. French and American troops in Tunisia had repulsed a German thrust to widen Rommel's corridor of retreat.

4. General Douglas MacArthur's forces in New Guinea completing the Papuan campaign, had eliminated the Japanese entirely from eastern New Guinea.

5. In the Solomon islands, American troops were steadily narrowing the area occupied by the Japanese.

6. Allied aircraft, both bombers and fighters, continued large scale operations in Tunisia, Stimson said, and on one day—January 24—destroyed an estimated 28 enemy planes on the ground.

To Use Air Bases

Discussing the pursuit of Rommel's forces by the British 8th Army, Stimson said that despite the efforts of the fleeing axis forces to destroy the air bases near Tripoli and to block the harbor, both will soon be in use by the American and British forces.

"In Russia," the secretary said, "the encircled German units near Stalingrad apparently have been reduced by casualties and evacuation to about 9,000 troops."

"At one time it was estimated there were as many as 200,000 axis troops in this area, and probably relatively few escaped."

"The magnificent resistance of the Russians against heavy odds may well make the struggle at Stalingrad one of the decisive battles of history."

"The Russians are making progress all along their lengthy front," the secretary said, but German resistance in the vicinity of Rostov is stiffening, a fact which Stimson interpreted as indicating the Germans might be trying to evacuate their forces from the Caucasus entirely.

Fiercest of All French Fighters Moving to Front

Dakar, French West Africa (Delayed).—(AP)—The first big convoy of French Senegalese soldiers, fiercest of all native African fighters, has sailed from Dakar to reinforce allied forces in Morocco, Algeria and Tunisia.

These red-frenzied colonials, most of them six feet or more tall, marched to their ships with flags flying and bands playing.

They bore with them one of the most powerful of all military weapons—a bitter and lasting hatred of the enemy.

Distinguished for gallant service in France both in 1914-18 and in 1940, these Senegalese have been known as soldiers unable to forgive or forget.

The man who directed their training General Pierre M. Tristani, selected the vanguard from a reservoir of more than 60,000 men. Many of them had been stationed in Senegal for months; others were scattered throughout the other colonies comprising French West Africa.

Those sent north, the general believes, have no equal in bayonet fighting. He said he was equally confident they would learn quickly to handle the modern weapons coming from the United States.

German and British Women Called to Do More War Work

London, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Compulsory labor service for all German men from 16 to 65 and women from 17 to 45 was decreed today by the German government, according to an announcement broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by The Associated Press.

The decree required all persons affected to register at local labor offices.

In a preamble to the decree, Adolf Hitler's labor commissioner, Fritz Sauckel, warned the German people, already under heavy pressure to produce for war needs, that they must devote their "energies solely to fighting and working for the community and thus make possible the earliest attainment of final victory."

London, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Labor Minister Ernest Bevin told the House of Commons today the call-up age of women for industrial mobilization would be raised from 30 years to 40 and indicated that thousands of others not called would be required to do part time work.

The new order, to become effective Feb. 22, also will prevent women from the ages of 18 to 40 from changing employment except through exchanges controlled by the labor ministry, Bevin said. In addition, the minister said that housewives from 18 to 45 years old, except those with children under 14, would be directed to do part time work.

Reds Drive Toward

came as the Russians pushed another spearhead into the arc bristling against Rostov and as fresh reports came of the surrender of thousands of cold, war weary axis troops on other fronts.

Hundreds Surrender

(The Russian midday communiqué as recorded in London by the Soviet radio monitor told of the capture of a number of towns in last night's fighting in the Caucasus but did not identify them.)

By last night the Russians figured the force at 8,500 with hundreds surrendering to the Red army forces that hemmed them in.)

The latest thrust toward Rostov was from Salsk, whence a Red army spur had raked northward along the railway to Ataman, within 60 miles of Rostov.

Meanwhile, other units had pressed on beyond Belaya Glna, on the main Stalingrad line and only 40 miles from Tikhoretsk, it was reported.

The other spearheads bearing down on Rostov were located by the Russians at points 70 miles north of the city and 56 miles to the east, on the lower Don.

Other Red Successes

Other reported successes on the southern front brought the capture of Novo Alexandrovskaya, 30 miles due east of Kropotkin and Rashivatskaya, 20 miles southeast.

At Novo Alexandrovskaya the Soviet troops would be in position to flank Kropotkin from the north, and the whole operation in this area and along the Baku-Rostov railway past Armavir formed another segment of the arc being drawn about Maikop.

In northern sectors of the Russian front, the Red army was said to have swept into Gorskhech-novo, 80 miles east and slightly south of Kursk, a German strong-point and base on the Moscow-Kharkov railway.

First Lady Sends Her

Condolence to Mother of Five Slain Heroes

Waterloo, Iowa, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the president, has sent a message of condolence to Mrs. T. F. Sullivan of Waterloo, whose five sons were reported missing in the service of the Navy.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who herself has four sons in the service, wrote: "My Dear Mrs. Sullivan:

"You and your husband have given a lesson of great courage to the whole country, and in thinking of this war and what it means to all mothers of the country, I shall keep the memory of your fortitude always in mind, as I hope other mothers with sons in the service will do."

"It is heartening that parents, who have suffered the loss you have, can always find solace in your faith and your abiding love for our country."

"Sincerely yours, "Eleanor Roosevelt."

Jeffers Intends to "Speak His Mind" if Querried on Rubber

Doesn't Think He Has Violated Any Presidential Orders

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Rubber Director William Jeffers doesn't think he violated any presidential orders when he said Army and Navy production expeditors were "loafers" who interfered with war production.

His office confirmed today that Jeffers intends to "speak his mind" when asked about the rubber program, despite a letter from Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, reminding him that President Roosevelt has instructed government officials not to air their disputes in public and to submit all public statements to OWI for clearance.

Davis' letter said, "the public airing of such conflicts and particularly in the language attributed to you not only contributes to confusion at home but furnishes ammunition to the propaganda machines of our enemies x x x."

"Such incidents can be avoided in the future if you will be good enough to submit to the OWI for appropriate clearance any remarks that you intend to make on occasions where such utterances are likely to reach the public."

Jeffers was not immediately available for comment on the letter, but his associates said he had voiced "the utmost respect for Mr. Davis' views" while feeling nevertheless that the OWI chief had "made a mistake". The remarks in Baltimore earlier this week were made in answer to questions at a round table conference of the Council of State Governments and were not in any sense a speech, they said.

Jeffers Quoted

"But it is now 14 months since Pearl Harbor, and one year since the synthetic rubber plant appropriations were made", Jeffers was quoted by a spokesman.

"In all those months not a single pound of synthetic rubber has been made by those plants", he continued. "I know the capacity of business in this country if it can once get rolling, and my only concern is to help get it rolling."

To accomplish this aim, Jeffers was quoted, "I will speak my mind."

Jeffers currently is involved in a clash with the Army and Navy over which should get top priority ratings for equipment and material, the rubber program on one hand or the aviation gasoline and escort ship programs on the other. Davis told his press conference yesterday Jeffers' remarks were "clearly a contravention of the (president's) letter x x x". Davis did not make his letter to Jeffers public, but Jeffers had no hesitation in doing so.

A spokesman said Jeffers intended to comply with the rules governing clearance of public utterances but that he nevertheless intended to give his views directly and fully when called upon for information. Davis made an honest mistake, the rubber director was represented as believing, in thinking that Jeffers' replies to forum questions in Baltimore were an official statement planned for public dissemination.

Pacific Movement of Eastern World, Inc., Is Indicted

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A two count secession indictment charging that Japan's notorious Black Dragon society launched a nationwide movement to alienate the loyalty of American Negroes has been returned by a federal grand jury at East St. Louis, Ill. Attorney General Biddle announced the indictment late yesterday and said it named the Pacific Movement of the Eastern World Inc.; General (A. name, not a title) Lee Butler, president of the corporation; David D. Erwin, its national adviser; and a Japanese described only as "John Doe".

The charges were conspiracy to cause insubordination, disloyalty, mutiny and refusal of duty in the armed forces, and conspiracy to hinder compliance with the selective service law.

The justice department said that Nimo de Guzman, 42, a Filipino now under sentence for forging money orders, was the actual founder of the Pacific Movement, which once claimed 100,000 members.

The department said that branches had been established in 17 cities, chiefly in the middle west and including East St. Louis, Mounds and Chicago, Ill.

The indictment covers only acts alleged to have been committed since Pearl Harbor, and concerns principally meetings held in East St. Louis under the leadership of Erwin or Butler, the department said.

current income of all taxpayers after allowable deductions.

Against Erasure

The latter plan was intended to put relatively low income groups completely on a current basis. Doughton, however, has voiced strong opposition to general erasure of 1942 obligations.

Four senate committee members, who took the plan for a "liaison" committee under advisement, showed little enthusiasm for it.

Formation of such a committee was urged after both Senator Maloney (D-Conn.) and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) protested that the president had requested legislation without previously consulting congressional leaders.

Meantime, an Associated Press poll indicated a senate vote next week on confirmation of the president's nomination of Edward J. Flynn as minister to Australia will be extremely close.

Close Vote on Flynn

Personal interviews with 88 senators showed 28 Democrats and a Progressive for confirmation and 27 Republicans and four Democrats against the appointment of the former chairman of the national Democratic committee. Twenty Democrats and eight Republicans declined to commit themselves one way or the other. The remaining four Democrats and four Republicans were absent from the city.

The house military committee, concerned lest hundreds of small liberal arts colleges are crippled financially by being left out of the military training program undertaken in cooperation with colleges and universities, sought a clear picture of the situation.

Accordingly, it announced that War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt would be asked at a committee session tomorrow to show how the smaller institutions would fare. Chairman May (D-Ky.) and other committee members said testimony thus far from Army and Navy officials indicated the smaller schools had received little or no consideration.

"Every extra dollar in America must go to the war", he said in announcing he expected to sign the bill promptly.

While the bill does not actually "tie up" the record balance in the state's general revenue fund, administration leaders said Green hoped the investment plan would discourage the legislature from appropriating the surplus for any other purpose. Green said the fund should be saved for post-war employment project financing.

Will Net Good Interest

While Democratic legislators voted for the bill, some of them argued the big balance indicated that the state sales tax could be reduced. A bill to cut the tax rate from two to one per cent is pending in the house, while another bill to take the sales levy off foods is awaiting senate action.

The Cutler bill provides that government securities which the state purchases must be bought at par or below, and must mature on or before June 30, 1945. Treasury officials have estimated the state would net about $

Giant-Killers May Be Found in Fast Moline High Five

Fireballs Have Ended Winning Streaks of Five Contenders

Chicago, Jan. 28.—(AP)—When the giant-killer of the year is acclaimed in Illinois high school basketball circles, it probably will be Coach Roger Potter's Moline team, which has ended the winning streaks of five major schools in the first half of the season.

Taylorville was the first to feel the sting of Moline's upset power, losing 35-32 after winning nine straight.

Davenport's six-game string was snapped 42-31 and Morton of Cicero came to the end of the trail after triumphing in nine straight when Moline won 34-32.

The next week Kewanee, which with Paris made up the lone unbeaten major quintets in Illinois at the time, saw its streak ended at 10 by Moline, 36-32, and Potter's fireballs got Paris last Saturday night in a 37-34 thriller which was marred only by the fact one of the Paris stars, Dick Foley, was out of action because of the mumps. That was the end of Paris' 18-game victory string, however.

In 13 games this season Moline has dropped only two, 30-25 to Freeport and 39-36 to Canton. In Northwest Conference play Moline is unbeaten and leads the league with five victories.

Kewanee (won 12 and lost 1) is second with four league triumphs against that lone loss to Moline. Everyone, meanwhile, is watching third place Galesburg (7 and 5 in all games) which is coming along strongly after losing four of its first six games. Coach Gerald Phillips' Silver Streaks now have copied three straight in league play for a 3 and 2 mark in the conference. They meet Kewanee tomorrow.

Other Conference
Here's a look around other outstanding conferences (won-lost record in all games listed in parentheses):

Southwestern Conference—there are no perfect records in this hard-hitting circuit, but Belleville (13 and 2) and Wood River (11 and 2) share the conference lead with identical marks of 6 wins and one loss. Edwardsville, which has lost only three games in 13 starts this season but all in league play, is in fourth place with a 4 and 3 conference record, behind Collinsville (10 and 4) which has won five of its seven league tilts.

Big Seven—West Frankfort (15 and 2) has a strangle hold on the lead with six straight victories, and will oppose sixth-place Herrin tomorrow, Mt. Vernon (11 and 3) is second with a conference record of 5 and 1 which will be risked against fourth place Marion tomorrow, Centralia (16 and 4) is in third place with four triumphs and two setbacks in league play.

North Egypt—Deep in the south where they grow a lot of tough little teams, Lawrenceville (13 and 3) has wrested a good lead in the North Egypt league, standing alone at the top with six wins and no losses after tripping Flora Tuesday 32-31. Salem (13 and 4) is in second place with six wins and two losses and Olney (11 and 3) is third with five wins and two losses.

Eastern Illinois—Paris, its 18 game winning streak against all competition snapped last week by Moline, rank up its 19th triumph Tuesday in a non-league tilt with Champaign, 44-23, and retained its 8 and 0 status in the conference, Palestine, once beaten in all games, holds a 7 and 0 record in league action. Kansas, until recently one of the state's undefeated quintets, dropped its second conference tilt to Casey 39-11 Tuesday.

Big Twelve—Two teams which have suffered four losses apiece in all games are undefeated in conference action and are virtually tied for the lead. Decatur (15 and 4) has a 5 and 0 rating in the Big Twelve after Tuesday's 33-32 shellacking of Urbana, and Champaign (13 and 4) has a 4 and 0 status in the league. Champaign bowed to Paris in a non-league tilt Tuesday 44-23. Decatur has a chance for No. 6 against sixth place Bloomington Friday but Champaign is out of the circuit in a match at Centralia.

Corn Belt—Bloomington Trinity (12 and 3) stayed ahead of Clinton with a 33-23 decision Tuesday over Normal University high for its fifth triumph in six league games. Clinton (8 and 6) has a 5 and 2 rating in the conference.

Big Eight—Elgin (8 and 2) is undefeated with six victories and tomorrow will meet last place Joliet.

West Rockford (6 and 3) was upset last night by its local arch rival, East Rockford, 24-23, for its second defeat of the conference campaign, but retained its hold on second place because of its 4 and 2 mark in the league.

Pirates of Ottawa Come to Dixon for Battle With Dukes

Hankenson's Team May Prove Headache for Sharpshooters

By BILL EVANS

Friday evening the Dixon Dukes basketball team will be taking on Ottawa in the high school gymnasium here. Last December the Pirates were host to Dixon in which Dixon edged out a 37 to 34 victory over Ottawa.

In preparation for the game this week Coach L. E. Sharpe has been practicing the team on short pivot shots which will add more to their offensive power. Also the team has been putting double emphasis on free throws. As a result from this week's work the regular team has shown wonderful handling and teamwork which in Friday night's game will be even better than that displayed when the Dukes ran over DeKalb last week. Although Dixon made 33 per cent of their shots against DeKalb, they might even top that mark if they play up to this week's improvements.

Probable Starters

Coach Sharpe will probably start Leeper and Knack at the forward positions, Loftus at the pivot position, and Hubbard and Howard at the guard positions. Bill Goff and Roger Bivins who have been showing fine ability will probably see some action in Friday night's game.

Coach Homer Hankenson's cagers, who were handicapped the last time they played Dixon by colds, will undoubtedly be at full strength for Friday night's game. With Ottawa being at full strength Dixon might find the Pirate quintet a bit of a headache. For the starting line-up, Ottawa will probably have Poukaki and Jobst at the forward positions, Peterson at center, and Wagner and Capt. Thompson as the guards. Capt. Thompson was the high scorer of the Dixon-Ottawa game last month with 18 points to his credit.

Sophomores Practice

Due to the score of the last Friday's game in which the Dixon sophomores lost to DeKalb, Coach C. B. Lindell has been emphasizing on accurate passing as well as the ability for his young Dukes to make a better percentage of their free throws. As a probable starting line-up for the sophomores Coach Lindell will have Utz and Rizzer at forwards, Fuller at center, and Meinke and Hanson at the guards. Undoubtedly Acker and Green, who are freshmen, will see action before the game is over Friday night.

In announcing the purchase yesterday, James Gallagher, general manager said, "we believe we have a chance to go places this season and we needed another pitcher." The purchase price was not disclosed, but some sources put it at $15,000.

Americans Battling in Pacific With Baseballs as Well as With Guns

Chicago, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Americans are battling with baseballs as well as bullets in the Pacific. To the offices of Will Harridge, president of the American League, came a letter from Elmer W. Heindl, a chaplain with the armed forces "somewhere on a Pacific island".

It said, in part:

"We have received the three dozen baseballs, sent to us by Harry Grabner, vice president of the Chicago White Sox, at your request, and were very happy to get them. The primary issue of baseballs from the government was exhausted x x x

"Baseball x x x is one of the strongest bonds that we have here in foreign service to tie us with home. As you know, we never feel more like Americans than when batting the old ball around.

"The men all agree that one of our anticipated pleasures, in the near future, will be to root again and again in the stadiums back home for our favorite teams."

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Opening Day's High in Bowling Tourney Remains Unchanged

Chicago, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Ben Hellguth's 1,645 total in the Petersen individual bowling tournament, scored on the opening day and regarded by pin dopsters to be far down in the standings at this stage, still was at the top today after five days of shooting.

With entrants holding a 185 average, 1,600 scores in previous classics have been common and scores in the 1,700's and 1,800's have been the winners. In 1927, the winner of the $4,000 first prize shot a 1,924 for an all-time high; last year's top was 1,807.

But this year's 1,600 totals are scarce, there being only two—the leading Chicagoan's and the 1,624 by Sam Clineff of suburban Hinsdale. However, there still are some of the classic's best bowlers scheduled to shoot and higher scores were a strong possibility before the tourney ends Sunday night.

No Changes Yesterday

Among tonight's 64 shooters were Joe Wilman of Chicago, voted second outstanding bowler of 1942 by the National Bowling Writers' Association; Vincent Mikiel of Detroit, winner of the 1940 tourney, and Russ Gersonde, Milwaukee star.

There were no changes among the first five leaders yesterday. The veteran Charlie Daw of Milwaukee, former national match champion, paced the night's squad and except for a poor finish might have taken over the top berth. He had 1,427 going into the final game and needed a 219 game for the lead. But he got into trouble and finished with 157 and a 1,585 aggregate, good for a sixth place tie with Bill Smith of Chicago.

Frank (Bud) Wright of Chicago took over ninth place by virtue of his 1,577 total, one pin behind Stanley Keegan of Chicago. He had a 276 game in his series, the tourney's high. Anthony Novak of Detroit dropped to tenth place.

Chicago Cubs Get Paul Derringer in Strictly Cash Deal

Chicago, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs, who believe they "have a chance to go places this season", may have taken a step in the right direction last night in acquiring Paul Derringer, veteran Cincinnati pitcher.

Certainly they had the right handed pitcher—and entire starting staff as a result of the cash deal—and there was every indication that it would be strictly righthanders the Cubs would rely on in their 1943 tilt bid.

Any southpaw regular must be developed from this year's recruits. Last year's lefties, Vern Olsen, Johnny Schmitz and Russ Meers, have entered military service.

The 36-year-old Derringer, who has spent 12 years in the majors—the last 10 with Cincinnati—will team up with such likely right hand starters as Claude Passeau, Bill Lee, Lon Warneke, Les Fleming, Tom Pressnell and possibly Dick Barrett, 34-year-old veteran of the minors obtained from Seattle.

Price Not Disclosed

In announcing the purchase yesterday, James Gallagher, general manager said, "we believe we have a chance to go places this season and we needed another pitcher." The purchase price was not disclosed, but some sources put it at $15,000.

Derringer, although bothered by an old injury, appeared in 29 games last season, winning 10, losing 11 and finishing with an earned run average of 3.06. Before the transaction was completed Manager Jimmy Wilson, a former Cincinnati teammate of Derringer, indicated a preference for the Cubs and that was all right with the Cubs.

Southern Illinois in Undisputed Possession of First Place Today

Chicago, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Southern Illinois Normal of Carbondale once more were setting the basketball pace in the Illinois Intercollegiate Conference race today.

A three way tie between Southern, Western and Eastern was broken last night when Carbondale defeated Western of Macomb, 58-49. Before the contest, each team had won two games and lost one.

Victory Menus

The old-fashioned soup pot, simmering away with its savory goodness, comes into its own again this winter.

Loaded with stock saved from canned and freshly cooked vegetables, drippings and leftover bits of meat and fowl, the good old back-of-the-stove kettle turns out a thrifty main dish packed with body-building tastiness.

I know that you will want the recipe for split pea soup. It is nourishing and fast becoming a prime wartime favorite. Wash a cup of split peas and add 8 cups water, 1/4 cup chopped salt pork, 1/3 cup minced onions, 1 crushed bay leaf, and 6 celery leaves. Cover and simmer an hour, or until the peas are very soft when pressed with a spoon. Mix together 3 tablespoons butter or margarine and 3 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon paprika. Add 3 cups milk and pour into the soup blend. Simmer 10 minutes. Stir frequently.

Old-fashioned beef soup and vegetables is one of grandmother's specialties. Select a good-sized soup bone with some meat attached. Have the butcher crack the bones to let out some of the goodness. Cover the bone by 5 inches of water in a large kettle. Add lid and simmer an hour. Add 1/2 cup minced onion, 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon paprika. Simmer 1 1/2 hours. This gives a good beef broth ready for the vegetables.

Add 1 cup chopped cooked or raw carrots, peas or green beans and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Boil the soup gently so that the vegetables will not lose their vitamins. Here is also a good place to use those outside leaves of lettuce, cabbage, celery or broccoli, if you have them on hand. When the vegetables are done, add a little more salt and pepper.

Leftover gravies, drippings, bits of creamed fish, fowl and meat, small vegetable tid bits and baked beans give staying quality and extra nutrition to main-dish soups.

You can make bean soup, that food favorite of the Senate Restaurant, in your own kitchen, though it is miles away from Washington.

Make up the soup when you have a left over ham bone. Mix together a cup of well washed navy beans, soaked over night in water to cover, ham bone cup each finely diced carrots white potatoes and celery, 1/3 cup chopped parsley, 1/3 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon paprika and 8 cups water. Cover tightly and simmer 3 hours. Add 2 cups boiling water and after 5 minutes press through a sieve or colander. Serve in hot bowl and sprinkle with hot croutons.

An herb bouquet gives a delicious flavor to clear soups. Fasten together with white cord several sprigs of parsley, thyme, celery and bay leaf. Add to soup for an hour. Discard before soup is served.

If a brown soup is preferred, cut 1/2 pound lean meat (beef, veal, lamb or mutton) into inch cubes and brown with 4 tablespoons chopped bacon or salt pork. Remove meat to soup kettle and add a cup of water to pan to get out all the flavor. Boil a minute and then pour into kettle and add 2 cups tomatoes, 1/2 cup each diced celery, carrots and onions, 4 cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper and 1 cup corn. Cover tightly and simmer 1 1/2 hours. Strain through a coarse strainer and serve in hot bowls. Sprinkle with grated cheese.

Cranut Bread

1 cup chopped cranberries
2-3 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
3 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
2 tablespoons shortening, melted

1/2 cup broken nuts
1 cup milk
Mix half the sugar with berries, add rest to remaining ingredients. Mix until blended and add berries. Bake an hour in waxed paper lined pan in moderate oven about 350 degrees.

Garden Blend

1 cup canned corn, drained
1 cup cooked peas
1 cup cooked green beans
1 tablespoon minced onions
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1/4 teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon paprika
1-8 teaspoon celery salt
3 tablespoons cream
Simmer ingredients covered 10 minutes

Brazil nut pastry makes a patriotic and delicious crust for jellied egg nog, custard or chocolate filling. Spread shelled nuts in a shallow pan and heat 20 minutes in moderately slow oven—(325). Cool and crush with rolling pin or put through food chopper. Press half inch layer into greased pie pan. Add the filling. Let chill for hour or so. This is a holiday tip that will put extra interest in your desserts.

Turnips, Winter Style

3 cups sliced turnips
3 cups water
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons margarine or butter
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1-8 teaspoon nutmeg
1-8 teaspoon sugar
Cook turnips until tender in water with salt added. Drain thor-

Ration News

From Lee County War
Price and Rationing Board

The rationing of canned fruits and vegetables, to become effective when the point system is inaugurated, is aimed at the conservation of food products and to assure every American of his equal share of food to eat. O. H. Martin, chairman of the Local War Price and Rationing Board explained today in further commenting on the forthcoming program.

Mr. Martin said, "We cannot afford to waste food at a time like this or give some individuals more than their fair share. That is the reason why canned fruits and vegetables are going to be rationed."

In buying rationed items, he urged the housewife to spend her points as wisely and sparingly as she does her money. Extravagant ously. Mash and add rest of ingredients. Simmer 5 minutes—or until all moisture has cooked out. Beat and serve.

Rice Nut Cakes
(Meat Alternate)

2 cups boiled rice
1 teaspoon minced onions
1 teaspoon minced parsley
1-3 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons cream
1-8 teaspoon pepper
1 egg, beaten
2-3 cup broken nuts (pecans, walnuts, peanuts)
3 tablespoons flour
Mix together rice, onions, parsley, salt, pepper, cream, egg and nuts. Shape into cakes and roll in flour. Brown on both sides in fat heated in frying pan.

spending of points can be more disastrous than extravagant spending of money. No matter how much money one has, rationed items cannot be purchased without points.

"If you run out of points you can't tell your grocer to 'change them.' Points due, are spot 'cash.'" Mr. Martin said.

When point rationing becomes effective, the person doing the grocery to 'change them.' Points due, are spot 'cash.'" Mr. Martin said.

When point rationing becomes effective, the person doing the buying will use the coupons in War Ration Book Two when purchasing any of the rationed processed foods. Before making a purchase, study the cost of the item in points before purchasing. Should the item you plan to purchase rate a high point value it is suggested that you consider a related commodity of a lower point value as a possible substitute. In this manner points will be conserved and food of which there is a greater supply will be used permitting an equalization between scarce commodities and those more plentiful.

Every rationed item will take points as well as money. When paying the grocer points, tear out the exact amount in the presence of the grocer or delivery boy. The grocer cannot make change in points.

Mr. Martin emphasized not to use more stamps than needed to make up the total points due. For example, if the food you buy calls for 13 points it is better to tear out an 8-point and a 5-point stamp than two 5-point stamps, a two and one-point stamp. Save the smaller point stamps for items of low point value.

The price of the article will in no way determine its point value and point values of identical items will be the same in all stores in the country regardless of any variance in price. The government will establish the different points for each item no matter what the price. Point values will not change because of price changes, but only when warranted by the available supply.

Every person in the household, including children of any age will have 48 points to use in obtaining rationed foods during any one rationed period. All blue stamps marked A, B, and C will be valid during the first period only. The red stamps in War Ration Book Two will be used at a later date for the rationing of meat.

Coffee and sugar will not be rationed under the point plan, but will continue to be rationed under War Ration Book One.

HIT BOSS FOR A JOB

Camp Lee, Va.—(AP)—Private Paul Garner, one of the late Ted Healy's "hit-me-and-I'll-slap-you-back boys," is in the Army now, and one of his favorite yarns he tells his soldier buddies is about when he had his audition.

"Whaddaya think happened at my audition? I walked in and said, 'Mr. Healy, I'd like a job with you', and he hauled off and hit me. Right in the puss," Garner said. "He hit me. So I jumped up and took a swing at him, and he said, 'You're hired. I like a guy that's quick on the reaction. You're hired.' So that was all the audition I had."

BREAKFAST

In Winter and Wartime

Eat a good breakfast to start a good day is a wise rule anytime. It's an especially wise rule to follow in winter and in this busy wartime.

To rate praise as "good", a breakfast scores on three counts. It has appetite appeal. It is nourishing. And it provides needed amounts and proportions of energy foods to carry through until lunchtime.

Leaving out breakfast or eating a hasty, poor one, makes a bad start for any member of the family, young or old. An active, growing child needs to break his fast with foods for energy and body-building. Foods that give energy for walking, running, games, and help around the house include eggs, milk, cheese, meat, and fruits that provide valuable vitamins. Even elderly people may need a substantial meal first thing in the morning, since many prefer not to take a heavy meal at evening.

As for a worker, one who does active work in a factory, on a farm, or around the house, needs a breakfast hearty enough to stay by until the next meal. Some office workers and others who sit at work may find fruit, a warm beverage and toast sufficient—provided they can balance off at lunch and dinner the budget of foods they need. But for people in general, a good breakfast is good health insurance.

Most people are familiar by this time with the kinds of foods needed each day—sometimes called the daily eight: a pint of milk for adults, from 3/4 to 1 quart for a growing child; a serving of meat, poultry, or fish, or sometimes dried peas or beans, or nuts; an egg a day, or at least three or four a week cooked or in made dishes; two or more servings of whole grain or "enriched" products; butter or other fats.

Variety in the breakfast menu adds interest appeal, but the general pattern may be much the same. For a starter, fruit of some sort. Fruit is refreshing and appetizing, and may also supply much of the vitamin C needed by everyone daily. In fact, if you don't get some food fairly rich in vitamin C at breakfast it is hard to get your day's quota. Citrus fruits and tomato juice are popular as breakfast starters for both these reasons. Canned or frozen strawberries may also supply a good deal of vitamin C as well as appetizing color and flavor. If the day's vitamin C supply is taken care of at some other meal, home canned and dried fruits have a place on the family breakfast menu, as do fresh apples and pears, applesauce or baked apples and such bottled juices as cranberry, grape, and apple. Some people like a mixture of vegetable juices or sauerkraut juice for breakfast.

The more whole-grains that are used in the bread and cereal part of the menu, the better for the family. Ready-prepared cereals save time, but in cold weather most people like hot cooked cereal. Try whole wheat steamed with milk, or brown rice steamed with milk, or hominy served with honey, maple syrup, or a bit of sweet fruit preserve. Some families like warm whole-milk-on-cooked-cereal, others prefer cream. That's a matter of taste or pocketbook. But it's wise to teach children to eat and enjoy cereal with no sugar.

Along with the breakfast cereals are a variety of breakfast breads everyone enjoys—hot crisp toast, muffins, biscuits, crusty corn bread, coffee bread, waffles, or pancakes. Many people enjoy these breakfast breads with a bit of marmalade or some other sweet spread. Sunday morning waffle sandwiches, for instance, can be made of two waffles with melted butter stirred into honey as a filling.

Last of all, there's the breakfast drink to consider. In cold weather almost everybody likes a hot cup of something for breakfast. The children may like warm milk or cocoa. The grownups may take their one cup allowance of coffee at breakfast, or may have half coffee and half hot milk, or tea, or cocoa, or one of the cereal "coffee beverages" now on the market. The idea is to have something warm, cheering, and good to taste in your cup these dark wintry mornings.

So the general pattern for a good winter family breakfast runs from fruit, cereals and breads, egg, fish or meat, to that warm cup of something, making sure that the youngsters have plenty of milk, and that everyone at the table has time to eat and a cheerful atmosphere to eat in.

1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 2 eggs, mix together lightly; then press out thin to oblong sheet on waxed paper. Combine enriched white bread crumbs, onion, celery, seasoning and fat and toss together lightly. Reserve 1/2 cup for topping and sprinkle remaining mixture over meat. Roll up like jelly roll, by lifting waxed paper and gently rolling meat away from it. Place in shallow baking pan; sprinkle top with reserved crumbs and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Slice and serve hot or cold, either plain or with well-seasoned tomato sauce.

Beef Stew With Dumplings

(Serves 6-8)

One and one-half pounds round beef, cut in pieces, 2 tablespoons butter or other fat, 6 cups boiling water, 1 cup diced carrots, 1 cup diced turnips, 1 cup small onions, whole; 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca. One cup

Quick Sausage Bake

One cup sausage meat (1/2 lb.), 1 cup coarse enriched white bread crumbs (2 slices), 1 tablespoon minced parsley (optional), 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 finely chopped apple, 6 slices whole-wheat or cracked wheat bread, 2 teaspoons brown sugar.

Combine sausage meat, enriched white bread crumbs, onion, parsley and apple and mix together lightly. Spread mixture to edge of bread slices and sprinkle lightly with brown sugar. Place on baking sheet and bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) until brown—20 to 30 minutes. Or toast bread on one side only; spread filling on untoasted side. Then broil sandwich slowly until brown and bubbly—about 5 minutes.

Stuffed Meat Ball

One pound chopped beef, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 egg, 2 cups large enriched white bread crumbs (4 slices), 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 tablespoon chopped celery tops (optional), sifted flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon melted butter, 1/2 cup milk. Brown meat in butter; add water, cover, and simmer about 2 hours, or until nearly done. Add vegetables and seasonings and continue cooking 30 minutes, or until tender; then add tapioca and bring to a brisk boil, stirring constantly. Drop dumpling mixture from teaspoon on boiling stew; cover very tightly and cook without removing cover 5 minutes, or longer, according to size of dumplings. For dumplings, sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Add butter to milk; add to flour and stir carefully until all flour is dampened and soft dough is formed.

Swiss Flank Steak

Six tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 2 pounds flank steak, 3 tablespoons cooking fat, melted; 1 onion, diced; 1 1/2 cups water. Mix flour and seasonings; pound them into both sides of the steak with saucer edge until muscle tendons of meat are tender. Sear steak in hot frying pan containing melted fat. Add onions and water. Cover tightly and simmer about 2 hours or until tender. Add more water during cooking period, if necessary.

Egg Timbale

(Serves 4)

Four eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup chicken stock, 1/2 teaspoon white pepper, dash of cayenne. Beat eggs slightly. Add chicken stock and seasonings. Strain and fill buttered timbale molds. Set into pan of hot water and bake in slow oven until set. Serve with cheese sauce.

Flank Steak Goulash

Two and one-half to 3 pounds flank steak (lean), 2 large onions sliced, 1/2 teaspoon thyme, 1 small bayleaf, 1 tablespoon paprika, 3 tablespoons bacon fat, salt and pepper.

Cube flank steak in inch pieces. Heat bacon fat in Dutch oven. Brown salted steak. Add onions and cook until golden. Add seasoning. Turn fire low and add 1/2 cup water or stock. Simmer 1/2 hour or more until tender. Add 1/2 cup more stock. Thicken with cornstarch or potato flour. Add 1/2 pint sweet cream or half that amount sour cream. Serve with rice, noodles, or Hungarian noodles tarhonya (procureable at any Hungarian grocery).

The Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Steward church announce the annual Pan-American

Today on the Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The "complete agreements" reached at Casablanca by President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill will touch every American home. Their decisions on military matters will ultimately decide, too: 1. Whether the man of the house will be needed in the armed forces, or in essential industrial or farm work.

2. How much food you'll get. 3. How warm you'll be next winter. 4. How much higher your taxes will go.

For on their decisions depends, in great measure, the length of the war—and, in turn what it will cost in lives, money and discomforts.

One of the top considerations must have been manpower: Shall the United States put its manpower into the largest possible armed forces?

Or shall the United States become even more the arsenal and granary of the United Nations, and use its manpower to increase output of armaments and food?

The Army's announced goal still is around 7,500,000 enlisted men by the end of 1943. Current total is around 5,500,000. Undersecretary of War Patterson said the other day.

Patterson stressed two points: Two Points Stressed

1. "It is as essential to obtain superiority over our enemies in number of soldiers as it is in training and in number and quality of weapons".

2. "We are training men in 1943 to fight in 1944. Our training program must contemplate a long war, and unfortunately there are no sound reasons to believe that the war will be finished in 1943".

Numerous congressmen, however, have declared that available manpower and womanpower must be balanced among the armed forces, essential industry and farming.

Some have estimated that industry will need 6,000,000 new workers this year, including replacements for men going into the services.

The farm labor situation has reached the point where the manpower commission and the agriculture department plan to raise a "land army" of 3,500,000 volunteers to help out in the fields at planting and harvesting times.

Now, our allies are depending on us for large quantities of both armaments and food.

The congressmen who want to limit the size of our armed forces ask what effect the army's manpower drain on industry and farms would have on this aid.

The question is, they say: How can America's manpower be put to the best possible use for the United Nations' cause?

Some answer to that question must have been sought at Casablanca.

here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Beitel.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Trowbridge of Rochelle were Sunday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stein.

Miss Ruth Rapp and friend, Miss Ruth Whitmore of Dixon and Miss Vera Rapp of Rockford spent the week end here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Rapp. Mr. and Mrs. Otis Hough and Rev. and Mrs. Hughes Morris and sons spent Sunday at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lee, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Hough of Rockford.

Bill Coon of Chicago spent the week end here at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Coon.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Beardsley left Sunday for Chicago to visit their son John and family and from there will go to Florida to spend the rest of the winter.

Rev. and Mrs. Hughes Morris spent Monday and Tuesday in Evanston and Mrs. Morris returned to her home here Wednesday and Rev. Morris resumed his studies at Garrett Institute.

Mrs. Floyd Stein attended a shower Monday evening in Creston in honor of Mrs. Richard Sanderson, a recent bride.

CAT PLAYS POSSUM

McPherson, Kas. (AP)—A woman who called and said a cat had been badly mauled by a dog and had climbed into a tree and died, telephoned again to say the kitty lost only one of its lives. "It came back to me, jumped out of the tree and ran," she reported.

What Shall We Eat?

By GRACE B. ARMSTRONG

Assistant Professor of Foods and Nutrition Extension, University of Illinois, College of Agriculture

Right now the new citrus crop is plentiful, and so our government has designated fresh citrus fruits—oranges, grapefruit, tangerine—as victory food specials.

Usually victory food specials are fresh foods that won't keep indefinitely and are plentiful. In view of the necessity of making the best use of our food supply, the citrus fruits are a very wise selection at this time. We can always use up other sources on vitamin C—our canned fruit juice—later on. They will keep in the can longer than the fresh fruits will keep.

Do you strain your orange juice or grapefruit juice? Well, it's wrong to do it, because half of the vitamin C in an orange or grapefruit is found in the pulp and half in the juice. So, if you strain these fruit juices, 50 per cent of the vitamin C is wasted. Of course, if you want to be absolutely certain of getting all the vitamin present, you can eat the orange or grapefruit sliced or in sections and get the pulp and juice together that way.

You probably won't be able to see the vitamin C disappear if you store your oranges or grapefruit at room temperature, but food chemist find that the icebox is the place to keep these fruits, if you want to conserve maximum vitamin value.

EXPENSES

Amounts expended for printing by congress and the executive departments and agencies of the federal government increased from $18,238,045.10 in the fiscal year of 1939 to $28,593,638.71 in 1941 and the total for 1942 is estimated at about $32,000,000.00.

The price of printing and binding of the records of congress-

al hearings is approximately one million dollars a year.

OPA Fixes Par in Nation's Pantries; Adding Up in Order

Par Is Five Cans Per Person of Rationed Vegetables, Etc.

Washington, Jan. 28—(AP)—OPA has decided on what's par for your pantry.

So now you can start adding up your stock of canned goods to get a line on how you stand with regard to the rationing program expected to start in a few weeks.

Par is five cans or bottles of rationed items per person, not counting cans containing less than eight ounces, like small cans of baby foods.

Any amount over that total calls for a penalty.

A family of four, for example, can declare 20 cans or bottles of fruits, vegetables, soups and juices without losing any of its ration.

In making your declaration to the rationing board, you won't have to count your stock of frozen or dried fruits and vegetables (but remember that these will take ration stamps when you buy them later.)

This looks like a good time to review the main points of this rationing program:

1. Foods to Be Rationed: All canned or bottled fruits, vegetables, soups and juices and baby foods; frozen fruits and vegetables; dried fruits.
2. Your Share: Remains to be determined. Each item will be assigned a point-value—scarce goods will be worth more points than others. Your ration will be fixed in total points per rationing period (which may be a month or some other length of time).
3. The ration stamps will bear point totals (8, 5, 2 and 1) and letters (A, B, C and so on) which will indicate the period in which they may be used. If A, B and C stamps are made valid for the first period, for example, your point total for that period would be 48. (This figure has been mentioned frequently, but OPA hasn't announced its decision.)

3. How to Get Your Ration Book: At a time yet to be announced, you or some member of your family must take your No. 1 ration book (the one used for sugar and coffee) to your rationing board's office. The rationing clerk will pencil an "X" across stamp No. 19 to indicate that the holder has received book No. 2. (You'll get back book No. 1, as it will continue to be used for sugar and coffee). You must declare how many cans and bottles of rationed items you have—on a family basis.

4. Penalties. Before the clerk gives you book No. 2, he is instructed to tear out one 8-point stamp for every can in excess of the allowable total. If there are four persons in your family, for instance, and you have 24 cans, that would be four over the limit, and the clerk would take one 8-point stamp out of each of the family's four books. The size of these extra cans won't make any difference so long as they're 8-ounce or larger. (Home-canned goods don't count.)

There are 24 such 8-point blue-colored stamps in each book. If the family doesn't have enough of these to cover the penalties, the clerk is to make a note of that fact on the books, and the remainder of the penalty would apply to any future ration books.

With your books in hand, you'll be ready to start budgeting your buying—in points as well as in cash. The blue stamps will be for canned and bottled goods; the red stamps in the same book will be used later for rationing meat.

Note: Under present plans, you won't have to surrender any ration stamps when you eat in a restaurant.

P. S. OPA expects you to have some canned goods on hand. There'll be one week just before rationing starts when you won't be able to buy any. That's to give the stores a chance to stock up their shelves.

BOATS REQUISITIONED

New York, Jan. 28—(AP)—Tass, official soviet news agency, broadcast today a report from Geneva that Italy had requisitioned all merchant marine coastal ships, fishing schooners with motors and private motor boats for immediate transfer to Sicilian ports within a quick run of Tunisia.

Packers Forced to Draw on Supplies from Time to Time

Chicago, Jan. 28—(AP)—Shipment of cattle and hogs to meat processing plants, running well under this time last year, occasionally has dropped below the minimum required to fill civilian meat quotas, packers said today.

However, it has been possible for meat producers to withdraw from previously accumulated supplies, they stated, and thus to ship 70 per cent of the beef and pork to retail outlets during the corresponding periods of 1941. This is the civilian quota established by the Office of Price Administration.

The cattle run started slumping around mid-November, statistics of the department of agriculture disclosed, and has not been above the preceding year in either December or January. Hog arrivals have been fewer than in 1942 in each week of the present month.

Packers pointed out that the OPA 70 per cent restriction is based on 1941, not 1942, and retail outlets are getting much less meat than they did last year. In some cases the reduction from last January is as much as 50 per cent, it was asserted.

This situation arises, it was explained, because fewer hogs and cattle were marketed in 1941 than last year.

DEPRECIATION (PART 2)

The "useful life" of a property, for Federal income tax purposes, is considered as its term of use for the purpose designed. Complete exhaustion of a property is not required in estimating the annual depreciation, but if it possesses salvage value at the end of the useful life, this value must be taken into account in determining the depreciation rate. Thus, the useful life of a rental building would be its useful rental life, though at the end of that period it may possess scrap or salvage value which must be taken into account. For the guidance of taxpayers, the Bureau of Internal Revenue has prepared a bulletin (Bulletin F) setting forth Bureau practice in regard to depreciation deductions and estimated useful life of various types of property.

After the estimated useful life of the property has been determined, the capital sum to be recovered may be charged off over the period, either in equal annual installments or in accordance with any recognized better practice. The amount so charged off must be used to reduce the cost (plus any additions and betterments) or other basis at which the property is held, and if the property is subsequently sold or exchanged, that reduced basis becomes the adjusted basis for determining the gain or loss on the sale or exchange.

If it is clearly shown that, because of economic or other conditions, property must be abandoned at a date prior to the end of its normal useful life, so that depreciation deductions are not allowed for obsolescence may be allowed in addition to depreciation. As stated above, depreciation allowances are based upon the cost "or other basis" if the property was acquired by purchase after February 28, 1913, the cost is

SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often
Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backaches, rheumatism, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Backache Kidney Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Funeral Services Held

Funeral services were held at the Ross funeral home in Walnut on Monday afternoon for J. J. Stauffer of Lowry City, Missouri. Mr. Stauffer was a brother of Mrs. Emma Miller of Walnut and lived for many years around Walnut and New Bedford before going to Missouri. Mr. Stauffer was born September 9, 1855 and died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. L. Browning of Lowry City on January 22, 1943. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Browning and Mrs. Nina Wright of Columbus, Kansas, and his sister, Mrs. Miller. The body arrived in Walnut Monday morning from Lowry City and funeral services were held at the Ross funeral home at 2 p. m., Jan. 25, with Rev. E. V. Hallock officiating. Lee Renner of New Bedford was the soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Sylvia Lindgren. Casket attendants were A. E. Lindgren, Howard Smetzer, Herman Thompson, Edgar Hall, Fred Stier and A. J. Monson. Those from a distance who attended were Mrs. C. L. Browning, Lowry City, Mo.; Mrs. Nina Wright, Columbus, Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Edwards, Rochelle; Mrs. Barbara Graham, Waterloo, Iowa; Mrs. Gladys Oakford and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Oakford of Dixon.

Library Board Meets
The Walnut Township library board held their first meeting at the library Monday night. The following officers were elected: President, George Gonigam; vice president, Myrtle Hopkins; secretary, Alice Borop; and treasurer, Gerald Ganschow. The following committees were elected: finance committee, Gerald Ganschow, Ezra Guither and Myrtle Hopkins; book committee, Lucy Wallas and Myrtle Hopkins; building committee, Gerald Ganschow, Ezra Guither and Alice Borop.

'Saboteurs' Are Causing Losses
in Feeder Lambs

Circling disease, sore mouth and hemorrhage septemia are three "saboteurs" in the form of diseases that are causing heavy losses in feeder lambs in this state, according to a report by the department of animal pathology and hygiene of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, based upon sick lambs brought in for diagnosis.

Listeriosis (encephalitis), called "circling disease" in New Zealand, has been recognized in Illinois sheep. Blindness, circling movements and coma are characteristic symptoms. Vaccination has not yet proved effective. Isolation of sick lambs offers some promise for control of the malady, but further study is necessary before more specific measures can be recommended.

Sore mouth (contagious ethyma) causes very few deaths, but results in loss of condition and retarded gains. Prevention is accomplished by vaccination, but should be done only if farm premises are infected (with virus) or if there is a reasonable danger of an outbreak of the disease in the flock. Pasturellosis, also known as hemorrhagic septemia, may cause death within 24 hours. It is recognized by symptoms of dullness, a discharge from the eyes and nose and by coughing and sneezing. Cases developing slowly may terminate in pneumonia. Isolation of sick lambs and good care are often effective in checking progress of this disease. Vaccination appears to be helpful in certain outbreaks, but ineffective in others.

Other diseases responsible for a high mortality are overeating or overfeeding in lambs and pregnancy disease in ewes. Flock owners should be on the alert at all times for symptoms indicating the presence of disease.

FALLING BIRTH RATE

London — (AP) — Possibility that Britain may have a population of only 27,000,000 in 2003, against today's 47,000,000, is among suppositions expected to be raised in connection with the debate on the Beveridge plan. These estimates are made by some experts on the basis of current trends in births and these men regard the falling birth rate as one of the major problems that must be realistically dealt with if the Beveridge or any other long-term social security plan is to have any genuine success.
